Reports of Foul Play Not Substantiated by Sheriff

Reports emanating from Fort Worth, Texas, to the effect that Mrs. Dolores Cruz, 24, Mexican, who until a few days ago resided east of the city in the Mexican colony, may have met with foul play at the hands of her husband, were discredited by Sheriff Ward Miller today, following his investigation last yesterday. Home-stickness is believed to have led to the woman's sudden disappearance. The investigation disclosed that the woman, without confiding to any of her few acquaintances, left her home shortly after dinner April 2, clad in her best attire, walked to Dixon and has not been heard from since. Her husband, Senobia Cruz, upon his return to his home that evening discovered that his wife had departed, leaving her clothing and belongings, but taking a sum of money. His efforts to find some trace of her were futile. He was of the belief that she had become homesick for her mother and had decided suddenly to return to Fort Worth.

"Big News" Abroad

London, April 11—(AP)—Chicago's primary election result was the big news in England today. The London afternoon papers played it up strong with flaring headlines. The papers make much of reports of one murder and rioting and what generally is captioned as "Chicago's Reign of Terror."

Promise Price Cut

Washington, April 11—(AP)—Organized automobile manufacturers promised the Senate finance committee today to cut the price on delivered cars the full extent of the present federal excise tax the minute Congress repeals this levy. This pledge was given by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce in reply to the contention of Secretary Mellon that consumers were not interested in repeal of the 3 per cent auto tax and were unlikely to benefit by it.

NINE WOMEN ON JURY TO SIT IN JNO. DUFFY CASE

Former Dixon Man Now on Trial in Cedar Rapids Court

(Telegraph Special Service)

Cedar Rapids, Io., April 11—A jury of nine women and three men was secured late Tuesday afternoon to try John W. Duffy, formerly of Dixon, Ill., now held in the Linn county jail on the charge of perjury. Testimony began this morning in Criminal Court before Judge John T. Moffatt, instead of Judge Ellis, who was taken sick Tuesday.

If found guilty Duffy will face sentence in Port Madison penitentiary for a term not to exceed fifteen years. The nine women are the largest number of their sex ever to sit on a jury in this county.

Duffy faces charges of perjury based on his defense testimony in the trial in January in which he was acquitted of robbing the Alburnett Savings bank of $6,689, after his alleged pal, Roscoe Shomler, had been convicted.

Witnesses for the state from Alburnett and from Clinton, as well as H. A. Brooks, Dixon, Ill., associate defense attorney, were in the courtroom Monday afternoon ready for trial. George C. Claassen, Duffy's attorney, appeared before Judge Moffatt and insisted that the case come to trial according to the assignment. "My client has been held in the county jail for two months now," he said. "He has a right to a speedy trial and we insist that it start at once. The county attorney by some means or another has delayed it long enough. If the trial is not started Tuesday we will make a motion for dismissal."

Judge Moffatt sent for County Attorney W. J. Barngrover, but the prosecutor could not be found after an hour's search. King Thompson, assistant county attorney, was found and asked for a continuance when he appeared in court. "I don't know what the county attorney's plans are," he explained, but he agreed to the selection of the jury Tuesday and the start of the trial today.

During the examination of the prospective jurors, the state's attorneys frequently asked the veniremen if they had any relatives or connections with any Cedar Rapids Republican. Such question presumably arose because newspaper men were called at the time of Duffy's trial in January to testify as to the descriptions given the paper of the Alburnett bank robbers.

WOMAN DROPPED IN FAINT AND CAUSED SCARE

Police Summoned to Rescue Woman Who Was Exhausted

Completely exhausted from repeated attempts to stop motorists and big rides which brought her closer to Beloit, Wis., resulted in Mrs. Fred Rexroth's falling unconscious on the street at the corner of Monroe avenue and Second street last evening about 8:30, and shortly after, a telephone message being sent to the police station stating that a woman had dropped dead.

Officers who responded found the woman unconscious and lying in a heap beside a heavy suit case. She was rushed to the Dixon public hospital where she was given medical attention and some time after was recovered sufficiently to give a story to Chief Van Bibber. Without funds, she started from Burlington, Iowa, begging rides along the highways and trying to reach her home in Beloit where she expects within a few days to become a mother.

Her condition was reported much improved this morning after a night's rest and arrangements were being made to have her sent on her way tomorrow to her home in Beloit.

Man Bests Sea Lion in Swimming Test

Hamburg, Germany, April 11—(AP)—A man today was acclaimed for a victory over a sea lion who fell asleep in trying to outswim his human competitor.

Otto Kemmerich, German professional swimmer, made the longest recorded continuous swim in human annals, plodding through the water for 46 hours. His pet California sea lion, Leo, who was to act as pace-maker, however, had been lifted drooping from the water four hours before sound asleep.

G. O. P. STANDARD BEARER

Louis L. Emmerson, merchant and banker of Mount Vernon, Ill., nominated by the Republicans of Illinois yesterday as their candidate for Governor, claims the distinction of having rolled up the largest vote ever accorded any candidate for state or federal office in Illinois.

His public life began in 1904 as a member of the state board of equalization. Four years later he became a member of the prison commission, and then in 1916 he was elected Secretary of State and has twice been re-elected, his plurality in 1924 being 923,356.

His campaign was based on "an efficient administration of the secretary of state's office" which, he said, should be duplicated in the executive chair.

Mr. Emmerson was born in 1863, in Albion, Ill., where he lived until he moved to Mt. Vernon in 1887.

Y. M. C. A. Boys are Planning Big Show
Circus time for the YMCA Physical Department has rolled around again and the circus committee feels fortunate in having so many young men taking part this year. That there really are young men in the Physical Department and not just boys will be manifest next week, Friday and Saturday, April 20th and 21st.

The circus will be held in the Y gymnasium, where it should be, and will be known as the Jing Ling Brothers' Circus.

Every effort is being made to give the demonstration a real, genuine circus atmosphere.

Among the numbers already decided upon will be a big parade, tumbling acts, wand drill, pyramids, revolving ladder act, clown acts galore, and heavy apparatus numbers.

The bleachers are to be arranged in a true circus style and at intervals during the performance vendors will climb about, selling peanuts, candy, and what-not.

The boys and young men are practicing diligently for this event and it promises to be the best circus in years.

Dixon and Allen on Legislative Ticket

Complete returns with the exception of one precinct in DeKalb county, and that a small one, show that Attorney George C. Dixon of this city and Henry C. Allen of Lyndon, Whiteside county, are the Republican nominees for representatives in the General Assembly. The one missing precinct, it is said, cannot change the result, and the Dixon candidate tops the slate. The figures:

Mrs. Henry Barnes of Polo is Called

(Telegraph Special Service)

Polo, Ill., April 11—Mrs. Henry Barnes, well known Polo woman, who has lived in this community since her birth on a farm six miles northwest of Polo on Aug. 2, 1894, died at her home here at noon today, complications which set in last Thursday being the cause of her passing. Funeral services will be held at the home at 2 o'clock Saturday, and at the Methodist church at 2:30, Rev. Frank Hancock officiating, and with burial in Fairmount.

Effie Ormsbee was married on Dec. 25, 1880 to Dr. J. I. Krebs, who passed away twelve years ago, and on Jan. 15, 1927 she was wedded to Henry C. Barnes, who survives her. One son, Claude Krebs, died eight years ago, and she is survived by her aged mother, Mrs. Charles Ormsbee of Sterling; a brother, Porter Ormsbee of Sterling; and three grandchildren: Mrs. Erna Love and Kermit and Adelbert Krebs, all of Wayland, Mo.

Calls Witness Liar

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 11—(AP)—The trial of Ku Klux Klan injunction suits was temporarily halted in federal court today when a spectator was ejected after he had called a witness a liar.

Dr. Charles F. Hunter, one of five "banished" klansmen, was on the stand describing a tilt between Van A. Barrickman, a co-defendant, and Dr. H. C. Shaw, Grand Dragon of Pennsylvania, at Barrickman's trial before the order, at the time of the interruption.

Dr. Hunter said a man put his hand in his pocket and said "I'll get him" (meaning Barrickman).

"Who was that man?" asked Lewis C. Walkinshaw, counsel for the former klansmen.

"William J. Hohman."

"You're a liar," shouted Hohman.

MANY CHAIRS IN NEXT ASSEMBLY IN DOUBT AFTER VOTE

Judges Forgot Legislative Fights in Count of Big Offices

Chicago, April 11—(AP)—Republican and Democratic nominees for the 56th General Assembly of Illinois were still uncertain early this morning. Election clerks neglected to count district contest votes last night and left most of the work until today. However, on the basis of incomplete returns, the following are the probable winners:

District 1, Republican, Gaines and Blackwell; Democrat, Griffin.

District 2, Republican, Krump; Democrats, Ryan and Clancy.

District 5, Republican, Lyon and Flora S. Cheney; Democrat, Igoe.

Districts 6, 7 and 8 in doubt.

District 10, Republican, Green and Hunter; Democrat, Wilson.

District 11, Republican, Swanson and Weeks; Democrat, Lee.

District 13, Republican, Schnackenberg and Garriott; Democrat, Powers.

District 14, Republican, McCarthy, Hoar and Peppers; Democrat, Fullmer.

District 16, Republican, Bruer and Turner; Democrat, Fahy.

District 19, Republican, Mariner; Democrat, McKeowney and Graham.

District 21, Republican, Harris; Democrat, O'Brien and Rattegan.

District 22, Republican, Luckey and O'Hair; Democrat, Breen.

District 23, Republican, Overland and Thon; Democrat, Keane.

District 24, Republican, Little and Black; Democrat, Gilmore.

District 25, Republican, Mrs. Elrod and Bederman; Democrat, Jacobson.

FEDERAL TRADE BOARD PROBING COPLEYPAPERS

Charge That His Interests are With Utilities Theme

Washington, April 11—(AP)—Resuming open hearings today under the Walsh resolution for an investigation of public utility financing, the Federal Trade Commission delved into the charges of Willis J. Spaulding, of Springfield, Ill., that the Copley Press, Inc., was interested in utilities.

Spaulding, who has been city commissioner of public property in Springfield for twenty years, denied that he had charged Copley Press with anything unlawful, although he believed it contrary to public interest for the Copley Press to be connected with utilities. He had nothing to say when asked to cite anything the Copley papers had done since January 1 contrary to public interest.

The witness said that since the Copley Press took over the Springfield Journal January 1, the newspaper had not printed any editorial against municipal ownership of public utilities, but pointed to a news story printed by the Springfield State Register favorable to such ownership which the Journal did not carry.

He said that the Journal then had a story unfavorable to municipal ownership of utilities.

He testified that he had written letters to Judson King, director of the National Popular Government League,

Another Deneen success was scored in the contest of Otis F. Glenn, Chi-although running behind the trailblazing lead of Emmerson, had a marked vote advantage over Frank Judge Swanson said that his nomination would forecast for the State's Attorney's office "new standards,

Politics Twisted

Judge Swanson's apparent nomination also gave city politics a sharp twist, for Mayor Thompson in the

gested the possibility of his resigning

the majority if Crowe were beaten.

To Senator Deneen, who returned from Washington to conduct the campaign in behalf of his slate, yesterday's vote indicated that "the people appreciate fully the political conditions which obtain in our city restore law and order and will elevate the standards of public ser-

There was no contest for presidential preference on the republican ballotting, the names of Gov. Alfred E.

Smith of New York and Senator

Reed of Missouri were written in by many democrats. The division between these two was so close that incomplete returns early today failed to show which had been favored.

The well advertised expectancy of vote day thuggery and terror failed to materialize. There was one daylight slaying. Octavius Granady,

Negro candidate for committeeman of the 20th ward. Granady was shot by seven men in an automobile who fired revolver and machine gun bullets into his body.

The $70,000 bond issues calling for widespread improvements, were apparently defeated.

In the Republican race for nomination as Congressmen-at-large Mrs.

Ruth Hanna McCormick, wife of the late Senator McMill McCormick and daughter of the late Mark Hanna

Congressman Rathbone apparently had been nominated for the other congressman-at-large with Representative Yates, third.

Today, as the vagrants among the precincts were getting in their returns, the office of Judge Jarecki concentrated on an investigation of the several irregularities charged in yesterday's voting. Senator Deneen prepared to press for prosecution of all frauds that may be uncovered.

VERMONT FOR CAL

Washington, April 11—(AP)—Vermont will send a united delegation to

for President Coolidge, Senator Dale,

Republican of the state, declared today in the Senate in denying that

"BENEFITED ME
BEYOND MY

for Taking Gly-Cas.Many well-known and respected residents throughout this entire section have been given most surprising relief from suffering by this new medical discovery, Gly-Cas which the Gly-Cas Man is explaining to local people at Campbell's White Cross Pharmacy, Dixon. For example, Mrs.
George Hirth, 217 Avenue "C", Rock Falls, Ill., recently said:"I urge others to give your Gly-Cas a trial for I know from experience that Gly-Cas is a medicine that actually gives relief and benefits. For a number of years, in my arms and limbs I'd had rheumatism, so bad at times I could not dress myself. Treatments and medicines of all kinds I tried, but nothing gave me the results Gly-Cas has. Your medicine simply benefited me beyond my expectations. I sleep normally now and my rheumatism has been relieved until I am actually able to do my housework. I know Gly-Cas to be a medicine that actually gives relief and is daily meeting the public and explaining this amazing new medical

Vote for Dead Man

Omaha, April 11—(AP)—A dead man received 474 votes for district judge in the Omaha vote yesterday.
The man was John O. Veiser. Mr.
Veiser died a couple of weeks ago after the ballots were printed. The count today shows 474 cast votes for Veiser, evidently not knowing, or forgetting, that he had died.

REARING AMY LOWELL—She started reading. Her voice was low.

But I was thinking of Ted and Joe; I was hearing the noisy gong. Seeing the pugs and the watching throng.

Until a clatter of wild acclaim Jolted me back to the Lowell dame.

She gave us some stuff that had to do

With three horses' heads, and I'm telling you,

Though others applauded what she had read,

It just went winging above my head;

When she read TEXAS, I sat and grinned.

For I have tasted the ginger-wind... Her LILACS got me and filled the room,

Before I knew it, with ghosts of bloom.

And I was seeing a garden-wall, Where lilacs lifted so straight and tall

Above a lad who paused and listened As through the dusk the pale stars glistened.

And when she read of a chap named Keats,

Who went for a walk in Tynemouth streets.

Wary of mist and of falling rain, Whose fingers drummed on his window-pane,

Hungry to glimpse the sun and hold His hands outstretched to its warmth and gold;

Pressing to ask all within hearing If they were seeing the skies were clearing;

Barber and doctor and hat-shop girls With eyes of laughter and saucy curls—

Then, as I hung on each magic word, Under my skin a strange thing stirred.

And I had forgotten the boxing-bee And Ted Marchant and Joe Dundee.

These Girls Enjoyed Ride With Lindbergh

Santa Barbara, Calif., April 11—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh who is alleged to be girl shy, took thirty-six young women out riding in his new monoplane here yesterday and liked it.

The names of the girls were not given out.

America's aerial trail blazer was in fine fettle and not at all girl shy on this occasion. His cheery smile, absent for the past few days, was much in evidence again. The trips were made from Carpinteria where Lindbergh's new plane is being housed.

MENU for the FAMILY

BY SISTER MARY
BREAKFAST—Sections of grape fruit, cereal, cream, codfish puffs, corn bread, maple syrup, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON—Virginia vegetable stew, toasted corn bread, cottage cheese, raisin bread pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER—Savory baked mackerel with tartar sauce, buttered new beets, macaroni, celery and olive salad, mock angel food cake, shredded fresh pineapple, milk, coffee.

Virginia Vegetable Stew
Three cups shredded cabbage, 3 small onions, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon paprika.

Cover cabbage with cold water and let stand fifteen minutes. Drain. Melt butter, add cabbage, onions peeled and minced and tomatoes. Use as "solid" tomatoes as possible. Season with salt, sugar and paprika and cook twenty minutes over a hot fire that keeps the mixture constantly bubbling. Serve very hot. Garnish with triangles of toast if desired.

'Entertaining Knights' Gave Most Enjoyable Party Monday Eve.

The dancing party given by "The Entertaining Knights" at the Dixon Masonic Temple on Monday evening was one of the most beautiful affairs ever conducted in Dixon. The orchestra shell was decorated to represent the inside of an Eskimo's igloo with its bear skins and icicles and it looked as though the blocks of ice from the front of the igloo had been removed to show the orchestra who were dressed as Eskimos playing within. The orchestra had spent considerable time and effort in planning their entertainment and they deserve a great deal of praise for they had some new stunts to perform with almost every number on the program and the guests were delighted with each new stunt. The orchestra consisted of ten members, including two pianos, an idea found to be very effective by the large orchestras in Chicago and elsewhere. Many of the stunts put on by the orchestra consisted of electrical effects. During the Anvil Chorus of Trovatore the sparks flew from the anvil in a very realistic manner. The chorus of a number of the late popular songs were thrown upon the walls by concealed lanterns and the guests joined in singing while they danced. This idea has become very popular at the great Trianon ball room in Chicago. During the intermission Mrs. Chas. Bishop sang, "Oh—Look at that Baby" and six young ladies, Lucille Kelley, Lucy Bovey, Maxine Rosenthal, Bernice Leland, Helene Reynolds, Martha Jean Stephenson, gowned in various lovely costumes furnished by Howell-Page, Inc. passed across the stage and executed a fascinating little dancing step. Following hearty applause, they sang, "Rain" while dressed in rain protection. This was followed by a stunt by Kenneth Ketchin and Emil Magnafici, two members of the orchestra, one dressed as a surgeon and the other as a woman in which they sang a late popular song, "Oh—My Operation," which proved to be a decided success.

While the party was announced as informal, all the fair sex in attendance were attired in lovely gowns and many in full evening dress, while the Tuxedo was the rule for the gentlemen.

Delicious refreshments were served by the ladies, both in the corridor and the serving room. The attendance was probably larger than that of any party held in Dixon for many years, the guests coming from Precept, Polo, Sterling, Rochelle, Amboy, Ashton and many other cities within this radius. The guests enjoyed themselves so thoroughly that the party was continued long after the regular closing time and as they left they repeatedly urged the committee to give more of such parties and therefore plans are already being made for a beautiful May Party.

Practical Club Meeting Was Held

The Practical Club spent a very pleasant afternoon with Mrs. J. H. Byers, 1017 Highland Ave., Tuesday, Apr. 10.

The paper, "What the Home Maker Should Know of Pictures" in regard to interior decorating was given by Mrs. C. A. Mellott. This paper proved very interesting and instructive.

Mrs. John N. Weiss entertained with a reading on "Woman."

The hostess assisted by her daughters served delicious refreshments.

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUMNER

Hugh Walpole must be a Janus or wear octagon-focal glasses. He sees so many sore spots in life and human relationships, analyzes them so deftly, and treats them so fully, that the tenacity of his new novel, "Wintersmoon," is almost too much, and makes the reader wish that these sore spots which he probes could be spread out more thinly into three or four books.

Perhaps the biggest theme of the book is the tragedy which results from a marriage of convenience. Janet Grandison marries Windtherne, Lord Poole, because she wants luxury and ease and freedom from economic worry for her beloved sister, Rosalind. Windtherne marries Janet because the woman whom he really loves does not love him, and because Janet is a more suitable lady and mistress of Wintersmoon, the old ancestral home. Intense unhappiness results to Janet, especially, who learns the hollowness of a marriage of convenience.

There is the sub plot of the rather selfish shallow sister Rosalind who marries young Tom Seddon from pity, though he bores her to death. He eventually commits suicide and Rosalind elopes with Ravage, a modernist and iconoclast, detested and ignored by "older England" which Janet loves and respects. It is fear of Rosalind's companionship with such modernists as Ravage that inspired Janet's marriage in the first place. And it is this very marriage to tedious conservatism that inflames Rosalind and makes her chase the jazzier environment all the more. Moral too seems to say that its pretty dangerous to plan to do good to others. You may drive them to worse.

"I want ideas," Janet struggles to become articulate, when she feels compelled to explain her boredom with Tom. "I hate the emphasis on human relationships; all this mauling and pawing of one person seems so insane. Ravage lives for ideas— not just talk of loving and adoring and being loved and all that sentimental rot."

There is the sub plot of the war between the Duchess, Windtherne's mother, and Janet, as the mother attempts to keep her position as head of the household, controlling the life of her son just as she did before his marriage, and Janet fights for the dignity of her wifehood.

There is the sub plot of old Sir John Beamster, alone and lonely in a new England of after the war— finding no place for an old man, who has not turned "modern" like his friend Felix Brun, who cackles at the moderns' cheap jokes and laughs at the old conservatism.

Lee Co. Chapter War Mothers Meet

The Lee Co. Chapter of American War Mothers held their meeting in C. A. R. hall Friday afternoon. Several members who had been unable to attend the meetings were present and gave a hearty welcome. The usual amount of business was transacted.

Committee reported flowers had been sent to the sick and deceased and 39 lbs. of carpet rags to Maywood Hospital and a case of eggs to Soldiers and Sailors Orphans Home at Normal, Ill., for the children's Easter.

Communications from the National and State departments were read and plans for the annual carnation day (May 12th) was arranged. It is hoped every citizen in Lee County will remember Mother's Day and wear a War Mothers' carnation.

Lee Co. Chapter would like to have all Gold Star Mothers, throughout Lee County, either send their names by mail or telephone to the president, Mrs. Clea Bunnell, Dixon, Ill., in order for her to send them to Washington, D. C. The bill before Congress, if passed, will entitle them to a free passage to the battle fields of France.

The meeting closed by singing "Blest Be The Tie That Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love."

CHOIR TO MEET THURSDAY EVENING AT 7:30—

The choir of St. Paul's Lutheran church will meet on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

REGULAR MEETING R. N. A. THURSDAY EVENING—

Regular meeting of R. N. A. Thursday evening at Union Hall. There will be initiation.

DORCAS SOCIETY TO MEET THURSDAY—

The Dorcas Society of the Congregational church will meet in the church parlors Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

3. No, she will fit her demands carefully to his more rested and leisurely moments.

Six Hikers See Carriso Gorge, Calif.

The editor of this department is in receipt of the following letter and clipping from Miss Frances Stanbrough, a Dixon girl now in San Diego, Calif., with her mother. Miss Stanbrough has many friends here who will be glad to read of her interesting experience. The clipping from the San Diego Union:

Over 28 miles of hot road bed, through 16 tunnels of the San Diego and Arizona railroad and along the desert for several miles was the course followed Sunday by six young ambitious hikers who walked from the construction camp at Jacumba, along the railroad tracks through the Carriso Gorge to a place about three miles west of Coyote Wells.

"It was a long, hot walk," Miss Mabel Brooks, a student of the San Diego high school and one of the hikers, said yesterday. "But we believe we are the first party to make the trip."

Miss Brooks explained that she and her friends left here by auto with Mr. and Mrs. Morefield at 5:30 Sunday morning. "We started walking from Jacumba at 10:30 and finished our walk at 8 p. m.," she said. The party was met at the intersection of the highway and railroad by the Morefields, who drove them back to San Diego.

Those who made the trip were Dorothy Dohl, Frances Stanbrough, Mabel Brooks, Murry Vanderver, Frank Voppell and Charles Williams.

San Diego, California, April 3, 1928.

Dear Miss.....

I am enclosing a clipping taken from the San Diego Union, which might be of some interest to a few friends. I would like to add a few details. The trip is one that I shall never attempt to take again and it is a trip that I shall always remember.

The majestic barren Rocky Mountains and the vast Imperial Valley desert, veiled in changeable hazes as the sun went down, was a beautiful sight.

Some of the interesting as well as exciting incidents on the trip were the crossing of trestles 300 feet high and walking blindly through the pitch dark tunnels. These tunnels are cut through solid granite. I might say that I have a faint idea of how the early pioneer of the West prized his water canteen, as we had to go very sparingly on our canteen for the water supply was limited.

It was wonderful hiking after the sun went down and the night came on. But when we reached the automobile that was waiting for us, we were only too ready to sit down and rest our weary and blistered feet.

Even though we did suffer from weariness and sore feet the last eight miles, we feel that we are well paid by the grandeur of it all.

This trip is just one of the many wonderful trips that await one here in California.

I find California very wonderful and I like San Diego very much because of its ideal climate, its beautiful mountains and back country and the wonderful harbor and ocean.

Love to you and to all my friends.

FRANCES STANBROUGH

BIRD TIME IS SPRING TIME, AND DON'T BUY YOUR BOY A SHOTGUN!

(By Olive Roberts Barton)

Every spring, before the sun has thawed out all the snow from behind fences and stones, there is a war outside my window. The birds suddenly realize that it is house-hunting time and there is one particularly desirable apartment in the crotch of a maple tree that all of them are after at once.

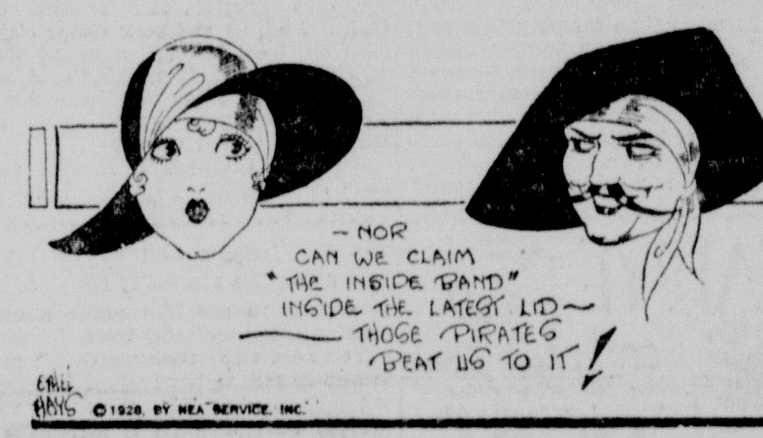

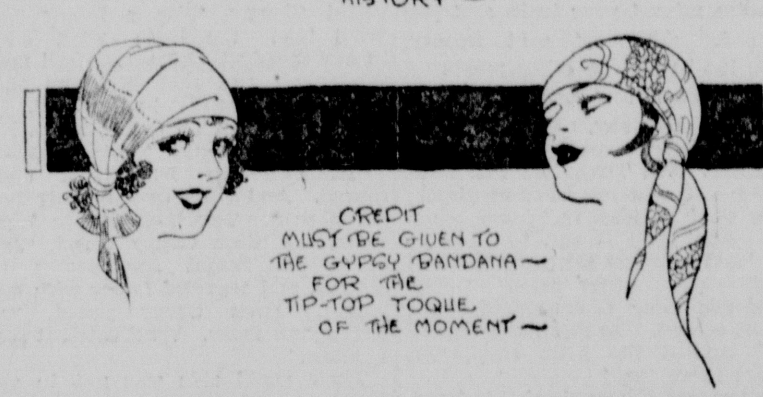

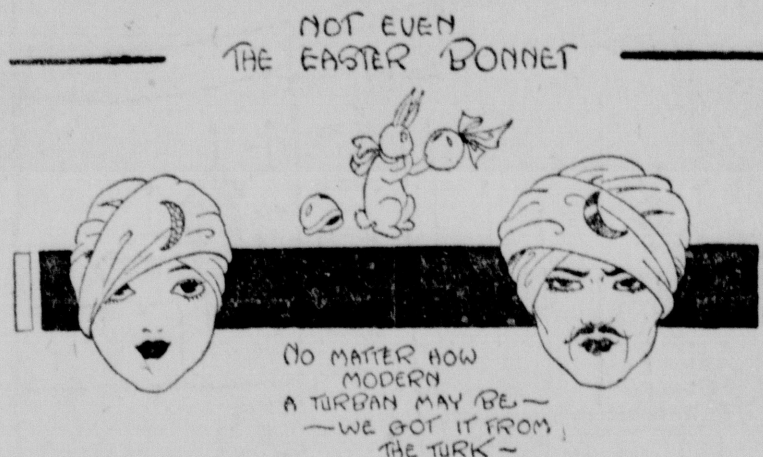

It is a sort of duplex, this apartment, and one spring robin had the lower floor while a noisy flicker ruled upstairs. It was amusing to watch the old busy-body upstairs sticking her head out of her window and peering down at her red-breasted neighbor as she sat on her nest.

Mrs. Flicker's window (made by herself and her husband) was as round as a dollar. Her nest was inside and she was safe from wind and rain.

Later that same spring came handsome Mr. Baltimore Oriole and his lemon-colored bride. His own suit was a gorgeous orange and black. But like an opera singer, he was too gaily caparisoned for his sad melting voice.

They decided, to my utter joy, to set up housekeeping on the same branch which made the robins and the flickers so comfortable. Not four feet from the duplex they sewed up a purse of a nest, six or seven inches deep, and soon it was a veritable case of rock-a-bye baby.

—ETHEL— NOTHING IS NEW! NOT EVEN THE EASTER BONNET for about fifteen bird infants began screeching at the top of their lungs in three different languages.

And that was not all, for that year we hadn't a vacant bird apartment on the place. The same robins came back year after year to nest. The orioles and the flickers never returned.

I suppose the sparrows chased them away.

Birds are one of the most interesting things in life. They need little encouragement to come around. Wrens will almost certainly adopt you if you get to a pet-store and buy a little fifty-cent wren house. Then tie a piece of suet to a bush or tree, and scatter hemp or canary seed. Birds also go where there is water. And please don't buy your boy a shotgun or air gun and allow him to kill them.

STUDENTS RETURN TO SCHOOL AFTER EASTER—

Many students were home from the Easter vacation, some being mentioned yesterday as returning to school, and we find a few more on our list. John Cahill, Michael Kinney and Edward Murphy returned to Notre Dame. William Finefield returned to Northwestern. Harry Weinman and Vincent Slothower have returned to the University of Illinois. Donald Hunt who attends the Bradley Polytechnic Institute, has returned after an Easter vacation with his mother, Mrs. Helen Hunt.

Beauty Secrets of Galli-Curci

AMELITA GALLI-CURCI

For NEA Service and The Telegraph

Only a proper blending of rouge paste on the foundation cream will secure a natural effect. Remember that nature blends face coloring gradually; the outer edge merges by most imperceptible degrees into the general tone of the skin. Do this blending with a rabbit foot.

Last of all comes the face powder. In putting this on, a down puff is better than woolen. Use lightly or it will look like a mask. Deluging the nose with powder seems to me not only unnatural, but vulgar.

Rachel powder or natural flesh color is best; no one's skin is pure white. For some lighter toned skins and for blondes I recommend lavender powder for evening. Rouge on the lips should not be greasy. I like a good bit of it for brunettes, it gives character. Blondes, however, should use rouge only in pastel shades on the lips.

For the daytime I never make up my hands. But in the evening application of liquid powder on hands, arms, neck and back for décolleté is necessary, otherwise, contrast with the pale shade of the evening dress and under artificial light would make one look black.

Eyebrows should be darkened with cosmetic, but I do not recommend plucking them, which to me appears ridiculous and artificial. Everything is best done in moderation, and following Nature. For both brunettes and blonde eyelashes look well darkened with black cosmetic. Some trim their eyelashes to secure, though not always with success, a thicker growth, but until they do grow out again the result is awful.

My reason for keeping the hair that Nature has given me is due to enlightening advice.

To tell the truth, women are growing bald. And this "going, going, gone" disaster has been brought on by bobbing the hair, as women neglect to brush it. I admire bobbed hair immensely for some faces, but I followed a plan of watchful waiting to see how it would turn out with others, having no ambition to wear my diamond tarta hind-part foremost in order to shield a shiny bald spot on the back of my head.

Care of the hair is Galli-Curci's theme in her next article.

WHEN FETTERS GALL.

A watchman on a steamship pier in Philadelphia says he can tell when spring has come without looking at the calendar, the thermometer or even the weather.

As soon as spring approaches, this watchman finds that a horde of boys besets his pier. They try to sneak past him to get aboard the steamers that dock there; caught, they admit that the urge to travel is on them, and talk of shipping as seamen for Rio, Capetown or Ternate. When spring passes they bother him no more, and in the fall and winter he does not see them. But next spring they swarm about just as before.

It would be interesting to consider the origin of this yearning for movement that arrives with the spring. All of us are subject to it. When the wind gets mild and caressing and the caressing and the down is an early tonic, we want to wander. It is not without significance that May 1 is the great moving day in the city. Unable to venture to distant lands, the citizen compromises by moving into the next block but one. The spring beguiles him into thinking that it will be pleasanter here.

All of this has a meaning. The winds of April blow the mists of custom from our eyes and we can see better. We discover that we have been shamefully cheated of our heritage. We were born to lofty chances and broad fields; yet behold! Here we are, somehow, cooped up in shops and offices, or chained to farms, spending our lives in prosaic toiling, getting and spending, and never once having so much as a glimpse of that rich, unfettered life of which we know we are capable.

So, naturally enough, we want to go away. Below the equator, surely, the bonds of this workaday world will not be so tight. We have been defrauded of our patrimony here at home; perhaps if we venture to Siam or Socotra we can get justice.

Well; we can't go, and that ends it. But at least we know. No one can tell us, in the spring, that the chief end of existence is to store up dollars and mind the catch-penny maxims of thrifty starvelings. We are sons of eternity, and life is everlasting, free and noble. Let the fetters of circumstance hold us never so tightly, that knowledge is ours. We know our rights, even if we can't get them.

THIS DAY OF CRIME.

It would be rather easy to get quite pessimistic about the condition of the United States right now, if you tried to.

Much of the daily news isn't at all comforting. There is Chicago, where crime seems to be absolutely defiant to society. There are daily murders elsewhere, ranging from holdup shootings to frightful tragedies like the Hickman affair. There are the slimy details of the Teapot Dome affair in Washington. There are assorted divorces, rascalities and embellishments of all varieties.

The sum total is, at times, depressing. It would be quite easy to conclude that civilization is going to the howlows.

But, after all, we do pretty well—considering. We mustn't be impatient; mustn't expect too much of ourselves.

The ancestors of every one of us a thousand years ago were plunged in barbarism. Europe, in the dark ages, was not an admirable place. Its most civilized centers were crude and untamed. Its poorer classes were hardly a step above the level of the brutes. The vast hinterland regions housed myriads of utter savages. In all the western world, in the year 928 A. D., there was not one man we could call educated, judged by anything like modern standards; there were not more than a handful free from the grip of monstrous superstitions. There was no rule but the rule but the rule of might.

That was a thousand years ago. An impartial witness from a more enlightened planet might easily have concluded that all mankind was fast on the road to beasthood.

The spirits of those ignorant, selfish ancestors of our still live in us. We haven't yet had time to outgrow them. A thousand years is not a long time in the evolution of society. The low peasant of the dark ages is our grandfather, not too many times removed; he, or the butchering, blood-thirsty war lord who ruled him.

This is not said to excuse the defects of present-day society. It does not make the misdeeds of our Hickmans, our Falls, our Sinclairs, our Capones, any less heinous. But it does help us to understand how such things can happen. It does help us to keep from giving way to pessimism when we think of the future.

Shocking things can happen in Twentieth Century America. To keep them from overwhelming you, read a good, detailed history of Europe covering the period beginning about 800 A. D. It will help you to keep hopeful.

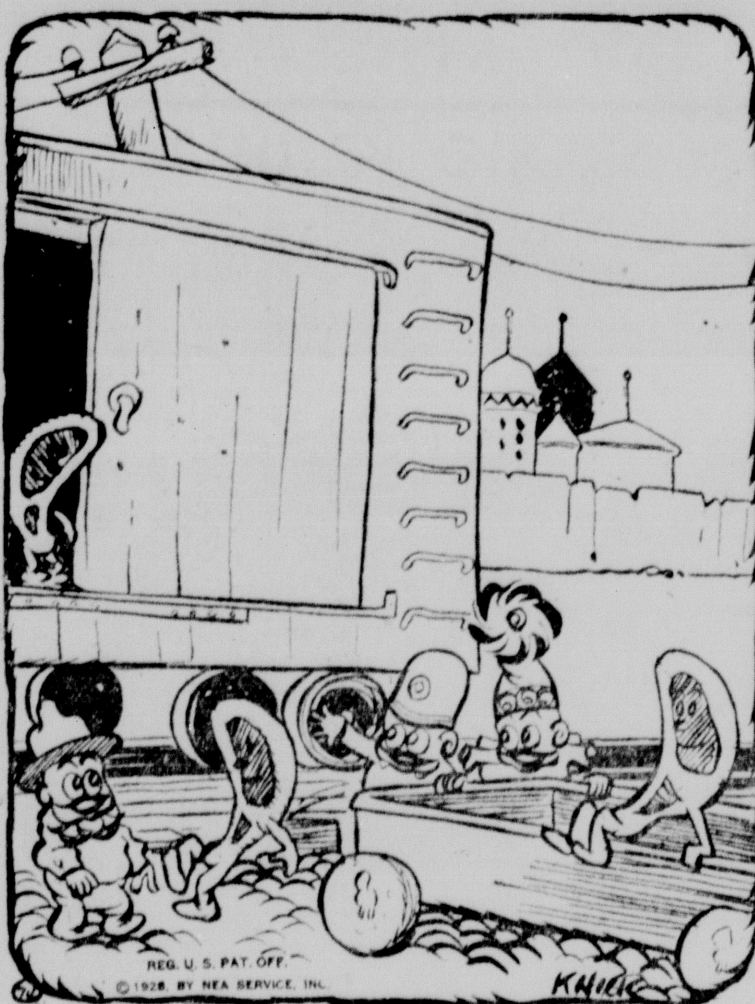

All through the winter we've been looking forward to the glad arrival of spring. And now that it's here, what? Just a yawn.

A beggar was arrested in New York and found to have three wives. Some day a rich man will be arrested with three wives and that will be news.

A hen in Canada laid two eggs in five hours. Probably she's just egging herself on.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

"You've missed your train and you feel sad. Oh, my," said Scouty, "that's too bad. The other meats all climbed aboard and now they're on their way. But say, as long as you are here, please change your sadness into cheer. We Tynymites will treat you nice and join you in some play." "Oh, we'd be glad to," one chop cried. And then it ran to Scouty's side. "But we must ask permission of the kind old butcher's man." "Well, go and ask him," Clowny said. "Ah, don't be scared. Go right ahead. 'All right,' replied the little chop. 'I'll ask him if we can.'"

The butcher slowly shook his head. "You have no time for play," he said. "You'll have to find some way to catch the train that's gone to town. They need you at the butcher shop. You'd better run and never stop until you catch up to the train. Be careful, don't fall down."

"Oh, wait a minute, if you can," yelled Clowny. "I've a better plan. We'll take the little pork chops in our speedy little cart. We'll make the rabbit run real fast and then, before much time has passed, I'm sure we'll catch up to the train. Hop in, and we'll depart." "Hurray!" the little pork chops roared. And then they quickly hopped aboard. The little Tynymites joined them, and then Coppy yelled, "Let's go!" The rabbit sped across the ground, and traveled faster with each bound. Soon Carpy yelled, "Ah, here's your train. We'll catch it soon, I know."

Their rapid ride was not in vain for, sure enough, they caught the train. And, as the pork chops clambered on, they heaved a happy sigh. "Oh, thank you, Tynymites," said one. "A very kind thing you have done. And, as the train moved slowly on, the Tynymites waved good-bye. (Clowny disappears in the next story.)

Marye, my dear: Haven't you any feeling of responsibility at all toward Florence? How can you let her risk the influence of a man such as you describe this artist Michello to be? After all, even though she does consider herself sophisticated, she is only a little untutored girl without any experience with the glamour of the world. And this man sounds like a tarantula to me. He can't be much if he hasn't anything better to do than to attract a lot of silly, idle women.

But I'm judging him by what you said about the stories of his past. Do you want to see him make a conquest of your sister-in-law?

You said once that we didn't protect girls well enough when you were growing up, but let me tell you, Marye, that trusting a girl with a nice young man was a different matter with us from trusting her with a lady-killer. We didn't approve of men giving teas, either. Not in my town. It may always have been a fashion in the city but I've been told that there was always a hostess, a near relative or a close friend, to preside at the tea urn for the occasion. Any grown-up man flustering white, manicured hands over a tea tray would have been an object of contempt with us. And certainly no lady ever went to a man's room or home and had tea or dinner with him alone.

They say it's a common practice in the city for men to entertain girls in their apartments without causing gossip. Well, that custom hasn't reached our town and if Florence

It is comparatively easy for other manufacturers to design bodies which look like the La Salle. It is not so simple to produce a power plant like the Cadillac-built, 90-degree, V-type, 8-cylinder engine.

Prove it. Drive the best other car you know—then seat yourself at the wheel of the Cadillac or La Salle and "give 'er the gun."

goes alone to an artist's studio and it is ever found out around here she will be talked about you may be sure. Her mother is getting anxious to have her come back and I don't know but that I should hint to Mrs. Meredith that she ought to insist upon it. Besides, Betty isn't feeling very well and Clyde is complaining that she is having too much to do. I guess he does not like "batching."

I asked him to stay with us but he refused. He's very independent. I took over a pie to him and one to Mrs. Meredith. I'm wondering who is going to stay with Betty when the new baby comes. Don't you think you could come out and keep house for Clyde and Junior while she is in the hospital? That would be a great help and maybe Clyde will soon be able to work, and then they can afford a girl for a while after you leave.

Please do look after Florence a little more carefully.

With all my love,

Members Board of Imp. Must be Paid

Springfield, Ill., April 11—(AP)—Mayors and commissioners of cities under the commission form of government, may not be ex-officio members of the board of local improvements and are entitled to compensation for their services as members of that board, over and above their respective salaries, Attorney General Oscar L. Cardstrom ruled here today. It was Cardstrom's opinion that where commission governed cities have a population of less than 50,000 the board of improvements shall consist of the mayor and two commissioners, they shall not be known as ex-officio members, and that the costs and expenses of maintaining such a board may be provided by a local ordinance.

PRESIDENTIAL PORTRAITS

The Story of Jim Reed

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of a series of articles on outstanding presidential candidates, written for The Telegraph and NEA Service by Robert Talley. This article concludes the story of Senator James A. Reed, tomorrow's will begin the story of Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover.

BY ROBERT TALLEY
NEA Service Writer

Washington, April 11.—One of the favorite quotations of Senator Jim Reed, the fiery Missourian who is now campaigning for the presidency, is the old Russian proverb: "The darkest hour comes just before the dawn."

The summer of 1922 found Jim Reed in his darkest hour. For his part in beating the League of Nations plan, leaders and members of his party had applied epithets that made "traitor" and "renegade" seem mild. The ominous shadow of Woodrow Wilson's hatred hung over him, a shadow tinged with popular sympathy for the sick man at his home on Street here.

Reed, running for re-election for another six-year term, was opposed in the Democratic primary by Breckinridge Long, who had been third assistant secretary of state under Wilson. In a public letter, Wilson denounced Reed—as he had done many times before—and asked Missouri Democrats to vote for Long.

It seemed that every man's hand was against him. Even his opponent was campaigning with the blessing of the party's leader, a fallen but still mighty star. It was up to Reed to placate the hospitality he found everywhere. He must make peace.

How did he do it? With a snarl! With a fierce, bitter, last-ditch campaign in which he asked no quarter and gave none. With a fighting on his enemies and a refusal to soften or apologize for a single one of the acts that had brought him unpopularity. That was Jim Reed's way of making peace.

"Fighting . . . fighting . . . fighting; all I ever got in this world I've had to fight for," has been Reed's cry through life.

Here is a sample of Jim Reed's tactics during that historic campaign of 1922 when he started his "come-back."

Before a platform illuminated by kerosene flares in a small Missouri town, a dense crowd of farmers and their wives are packed. Reed, in his shirt sleeves, moved to the front of the platform and looks out sternly over his audience. Presently, in a harsh, rasping voice he speaks.

"Who told you that a president has the right to think for you and me, anyway?" he begins. "Thus he meets the charge that he had been unfaithful to Wilson."

Then he grins a broad, good-humored grin and his voice becomes playful.

"Did Brecky Long tell you that?" he asked. "Why, see here, folks—what if I should be elected president some day and Brecky had to let me do his thinking for him? Don't you see what an awful fix we'd both be in?"

The crowd chuckles.

Suddenly, Reed's face distorts to a snarling mask, his harshness returns and he thunders out:

"When I opposed some of the things that the president wanted I wasn't fighting the president. I was fighting for you people. This isn't a one-man government. This is a government of 110,000,000 men and women. You sent me to congress to agree with the president when I believed he was right and to fight him when I believed he was wrong—didn't you?"

So the speech went on, shifting to homely humor at times but always carrying the incisive cry of defiance. Act by act, Reed took up his record, shouting his explanation and renewing his assault on Wilson. With variations, the scene was repeated night throughout Missouri.

He refused to be put on the defensive. He was forever attacking, attacking, attacking . . . fighting, fighting, fighting.

Reed was renominated triumphantly and re-elected by 43,000 votes. He returned to the Senate to resume his spectacular career.

For a time, he seemed subdued—wary and disheartened—but not for long. In the 69th congress he got into three outstanding fights—and although he lost all three, his reputation and prestige increased. He took the leadership of the anti-World Court crowd away from Borah and held it to the end. He assailed the Mellon tax bill. He was one of the leaders in the fight over the Italian debt settlement.

In 1926, he suddenly picked up the prohibition issue and made it alive again. During the ordinary routine consideration of wet and dry bills by the judiciary committee, he dragged high prohibition officials on the stand. He developed that 60,000,000 gallons of bonded alcohol were escaping annually from the government; drew out an estimate that there were 1,700,000 illicit stills operating in the United States and got General Lincoln Andrews, enforcement chief, to say that prohibition enforcement would be greatly simplified if the sale of beer was legalized.

Reed wanted to cross-examine the late Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, but Wheeler was canny enough to appear at this hearing as counsel. Reed wanted to probe the whole league from end to end.

But finally the chance came. During Reed's scathing investigation of the Vire election in Pennsylvania—which he started, as the result of charges of fraud—the Anti-Saloon League asserted that excessive use of money had helped defeat Governor Pinchot, the dry candidate.

A less keen man might not have seen the opportunity, but Reed leaped upon this statement and made it one of his excuses for dragging the whole prohibition question before his committee. He got away with it.

From Wheeler, on the witness stand Reed drew the entire story of the prohibition movement. He learned that the league had spent $35,000,000 to bring about the passage of the dry law, and that it was spending a million dollars a year in New York alone. He established that congressmen and senators were being paid money for making speeches for prohibition. In all, he had quite a merry time.

Reed's outstanding recent achievement has been his investigation into the election of Vire, in Pennsylvania, and Frank L. Smith, in Illinois, it being alleged that these millionaires "bought" their way into the Senate with excessive campaign expenditures. The Senate has already voted to deny Smith his seat, meanwhile Vire is standing aside until his investigation is completed.

Reed occasionally practices law. In Aaron Sapiro's $1,000,000 suit against Henry Ford as the aftermath of Ford's anti-Jew campaign, Ford is said to have retained Reed at a fee of $100,000. The suit was settled by compromise and never came to trial.

Today at 66, Jim Reed is still fighting . . . fighting . . . fighting. It is not only his greatest right, but probably his last. If he is defeated in his effort for the presidency, he plans to return to Kansas City and settle down to the practice of law.

Reuben Harmon, son of John and Nancy Harmon was born April 13, 1925 at Washington County, Md., and passed away April 6, 1928, at his home near Haldane, aged 92 years, 11 months and 24 days. Death was caused by the infirmities of old age and general break down in health. At the age of four years he came with his parents to Illinois where he has since resided in this vicinity. On September 29, 1859 he was united in marriage with Mary Hurdle and for almost 67 years they have shared life's joys and sorrows together. During the Civil War Mr. Harmon enlisted with Co. F. 15th Illinois Volunteer Infantry and served until the end of the war. Thirteen children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Harmon and two preceded him in death. Those who are mourning the death of a loved one are the bereaved wife and eleven children: Frank of Marshalltown, Ia.; Mrs. Martha Alsip of Carthage, Missouri; Robert of Garwin, Iowa; Mrs. Olive Bakener, John and Charles of Byron; Mrs. Mary Twigg and Mrs. Anna Timmer of Forreston; Mrs. Almeda Petrie, Clinton and Harvey of this vicinity, thirty-four grandchildren, two great, great grandchildren, and one brother, Amos Harmon.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Haldane church and were conducted by Rev. R. V. Strode of the Adeline U. B. church, assisted by Rev. S. S. Plum. Mr. Harmon was a member of the United Brethren church for over 66 years. A large crowd of friends were present at the

BUILDING CODE FOR DIXON PLEA OF CONTRACTORS

Kiwanis Club is Given Information About City Benefits

The enactment of a building code ordinance by the city council was outlined before the Kiwanis club Tuesday by George Schmucker, local contractor, the meeting being attended by other contractors who were in accord with the movement, as well as by members of the city council.

The contractor, who is secretary of the local Associated Building Contractors, explained that such an ordinance would be for the purpose of fair dealing between the contractors and the building public. He drew attention to the advertising campaign which is now being carried on in Dixon covering the construction of new homes and the reclamation of old homes. In explaining the advantages of a building code in Dixon, the contractor said:

Needs Instruction The average home builder is not familiar with construction. The building of a home is an important step in life and the average citizen builds but one home. In a city the size of Dixon homes are built without architects' plans or supervision during construction. Usually, a set of standard plans are used and in most instances, the construction of the home is left to the honesty of the contractor.

The building code is aimed to provide a healthy home condition as well as safety to the occupant. A building code would regulate the thickness of the basement walls, good basement drainage and proper basement lighting. The average basement is dark and dirty for want of proper light and air. It would provide that the outside framework be of substantial construction. The public should be educated to demand a fire-proof roofing and the fire hazard should be controlled by a city ordinance which would regulate the construction of chimneys and flues.

No Plumbing Ordinance In the matter of plumbing in Dixon, there is no local regulation and the state regulations are not enforced. A building code ordinance is also necessary to control the manner in which electric wiring is installed, to provide proper insulation and the installation of lighting or other fixtures. The installation of heating systems is another step in home building which should be controlled in such a code.

In Dixon there are builders who construct home, install wiring, heating and plumbing without specializing in any one line. The honest contractor is compelled to compete against such opposition. No compensation insurance is carried on the employees of these builders and it is the city's business to see that the workmen are also protected.

Dixon Needs Code "Dixon needs a building code and to bring this about it would be necessary for the city to issue permits for the construction of any kind of a building as well as to require the ser-views of a competent inspector over such operations.

"The Associated Building Contractors of Dixon are ready and willing to co-operate with the Chamber of Commerce and the city council to secure the enactment of a building code ordinance suitable to the needs of Dixon."

President Mark D. Smith of the Associated Building Contractors spoke briefly, and stated that the state association is sponsoring the enactment of building codes and advocated the enactment of such an ordinance in Dixon from both a safety and sanitation standpoint. He concluded his remarks by drawing attention to the reclamation of homes, which is an important department of the association's program of activities for the year.

BOYS HANDBOOK OF SCOUTING IS GIVEN OFFICIALS

Dixon Men Get Copy of Book: Similar One to Pres.

President Calvin Coolidge was presented with the 500,000th copy of the new "Handbook for Boys of the Boy Scouts of America" by Eagle Scout H. Loren Adams of Washington, D. C. Monday, and on the same day Eagle Scouts of Black Hawk Area presented copies of the book to County Superintendent of Schools L. W. Miller, Mayor Frank D. Palmer, Superintendent I. B. Potter of the Dixon schools, Dr. Warren G. Murray of the Dixon State Hospital and Circuit Judge Harry Edwards of Dixon; Mayor Knott of Byron, County Judge Leon Zick of Polo and Mayor O'Brien of Rochelle.

The president of the United States, who is also honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America, personally accepted the book and it is expected that he will send his greetings to the Boy Scouts from the White House. The presentation of the Handbook for Boys was made simultaneously with the opening of the eighteenth annual meeting of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America, which is being held at San Francisco this year.

With a continued yearly circulation larger than that of any book excepting the Bible, the Handbook for Boys has the prestige of being the best known book for boys in the world. When a completely new handbook was issued during the last months of 1922, the former editions had a circulation exceeding 3,000,000 copies and it was estimated that nearly 5,000,000 boys had read its pages. It is a tribute to the new Handbook for Boys that it has gone through five printings.

Simultaneously with the presentation to the president of the United States, copies of the Handbook for Boys were presented by Eagle Scouts to the governors of the 48 states and to mayors and college presidents throughout the nation, who also sent greetings to the Boy Scouts of America on Easter Monday.

In one paragraph of his letter to President Coolidge, Chief Scout Executive James E. West said: "We have endeavored to make this book not merely interesting and helpful to boys in carrying out the useful and practical activities of the program; we have tried to emphasize the importance of the scout oath and the scout law and the spirit of service which are the primary concern of all scout leaders."

Smyrna Again Struck by Severe Temblors

Constantinople, April 11.—(AP)—Quake-wracked Smyrna again was struck by a series of heavy quakes late last night.
The Smyrna region, where 60 persons lost their lives on March 31 in a series of quakes, again was filled with terror as four houses crashed in the city proper and 40 in the neighboring village of Tireh.
Seven quakes rocked the village of Toubah, which already had been completely demolished. No further casualties were reported.

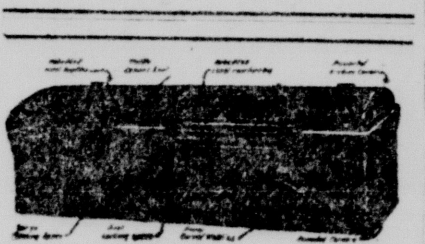

Fifteen Killed in French Rail Wreck

Paris, April 11.—(AP)—Fifteen persons were killed and thirty injured in a collision of trains bound for the English racetrack just outside of Paris at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.
The crash took place near the great French railroad station Gare Du Nord, a crowded race train crashing into an empty one.

STEPHENSON TAX PUZZLE REACHES FINAL SOLUTION

Drop in Valuation of the Farm Lands Ordered in Near-by Co.

Freeport, April 11.—Final adjustment has been made of the Stephenson county taxation tangle resulting from a complaint made to the state tax commission several months ago that an inequality existed between the assessed valuations of farm lands of Stephenson county and city property in Freeport.
This settlement is being effected through an order of the tax commission lowering the farm land valuations in the county 25 per cent, instead of increasing city property valuations, as was demanded by a previous order issued from the office of the commission. The first order would have increased valuation of city property by about 33 1/3 per cent and it raised a storm of protest in Freeport, where preparations were being made to resist the order in the courts if necessary.

The commission directed the Freeport assessor to reassess all Freeport real estate to bring the valuations up to line with those of the rural districts, but when that official returned his books he said he had made practically no changes in the assessed valuations and his reason for so doing was that in making the assessment first announced he had been guided by his own judgment which was what the law expected him to do. This resulted in a second presentation of the case before the state tax body, with the result that the order for lowering the valuations of farm lands was decided upon.

This was done it was explained because lateness of the season prevented the commission from proceeding with another long-drawn-out process in readjusting Freeport's realty valuations.

The tax books will not be available until a month hence, it is believed.

COMPTON NEWS

Compton—Village election will be held on Tuesday, April 17 at the village hall. A president, clerk and three trustees are to be elected for full terms. A village ticket has been made. H. M. Chaon for president, C. L. Ogilvie, clerk, R. M. Carnahan, A. C. Schneider and Chas. Stout, trustees. Mr. Chaon has served on the board for past years as trustee, and was elected to fill vacancy a year ago. Mr. Carnahan and Mr. Stout are in for re-election, while Mr. Schneider is running for his first time on the village ticket.

Oliver Anderson and mother, Mrs. Anderson, Lawrence Johnson and sister Esther Johnson, all from Aurora, spent several hours here Saturday with Helen Archer, who is confined to her home here with inflammatory rheumatism.

Miss Evelyn Saylor, Language teacher in the local high school is the proud owner of a new Essex Coach recently purchased from the L. D. Miller Agency here.

George Shaw of Dixon was entertained by H. M. Chaon at his home last Thursday evening.

Otto Weisenfeld left early last week for Chicago, where he will be employed by a large manufacturing firm.

Dr. C. G. Pool, after spending nearly two weeks touring in the south has returned to his home here. Dr. Pool covered three thousand miles on the B. F. Shaw Printing Co., Dixon, Ill.

trip, taking in Memphis, New Orleans and on his return came up through Texas to Hot Springs, Ark. He states that nearly all the highways are gravely below the Mason-Dixon line, consequently the tourists are frequented with puns.

George Walter had the misfortune of losing one of his best milk cows, due to poisoning from some unknown source.

J. A. Carnahan left here Friday for Iowa but when he arrived at Cedar Rapids he encountered snow and bad roads, forcing him to return without reaching his unknown destination.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Holdren accompanied by Miss Ione Abell spent Monday in Dixon.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Atherton and baby daughter spent Easter with Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Card.

Thirty-five young people assembled at the Royal Neighbor hall last Saturday evening as guests of the Boy Scouts. A lively evening was spent, followed by a repast. The Boy Scouts organization here has been unable to secure a Scout Master, regardless of their seemingly vain efforts in keeping their organization alive. And since they have failed to secure a Scout Master to superintend them in their craft, they have turned to the social side of life and plan to "pull a party" as long as the treasurer will honor orders drawn for such a purpose.

Four congressional district republican conventions in Oklahoma yesterday selected uninstructed delegates, while resolutions expressing confidence in Lowden, Senator Curtis and Cice President Dawes were adopted at one of these meetings.

Idaho, the only other state where delegates were chosen yesterday, instructed its 11 for Senator Borah, with Hoover as second choice.

On the democratic side, Governor Smith garnered at least 47 of the 50 district delegates chosen in Illinois and ran his total of pledged and claimed delegates to 241. Nebraska's 16 had been conceded former Senator Hitchcock, and a convention in Oklahoma selected an uninstructed delegation. Smith's lead is expected to be increased by eight when the democratic state convention meets in Illinois to select that many delegates at large.

Chicago, April 11.—(AP)—Only four players—Willie Hoppe of New York, John Layton of St. Louis, Gus Copulos of Detroit and Otto Reisel of Philadelphia, the defending champion—were considered in the running for the national three cushion billiards title today.

While Hoppe and Layton were tied for first place with only one defeat in five starts, Copulos was proving the tartar of the race. After a poor start, he has shown a remarkable reversal of form, making difficult shots and leaving his opponents difficult ones. Today he was in third place with five victories and two defeats.

Allen Hall of St. Louis was considered out of the title chase. He lost his third match last night to Reisel 50 to 45, in 64 slow innings.

Political Gossip

Washington, April 11.—(AP)—Leaders in the free-for-all battle of ballots for presidential delegates retained their advantages today on the face of returns from four state primaries and conventions at which 155 Kansas City and Houston votes were at stake.

Lowden picked up at least 30 of the 50 district delegates chosen in the Illinois republican primary, boosting his total to 130 pledged and claimed convention votes to date. Hoover, who did not figure in yesterday's balloting, still has a lead of 181 instructed and claimed delegates.

The former Illinois governor stood today to gain further support as a result of yesterday's Nebraska primary, where 19 delegates were voted upon, and today's convention in North Carolina, where four delegates at large were to be selected. The commerce secretary, however, is battling Lowden for the southern state's votes.

The primary in Nebraska, where Senator Norris had filed, was in doubt early today.

What Managers Say of Teams in Present Season

Here's what the rival managers of the big leagues say concerning their prospects in the season which begins today:

NATIONAL LEAGUE
DONIE BUSH, PIRATES: "We're stronger than we were last year and the opposition is no stronger, so why shouldn't we expect to win the pennant again? I am perfectly satisfied with the team and the condition of the squad. We know that we will have to play ball in every game and that's what we are going to do."

BILL McKECHNIE, CARDS: "From our experience last year we know how much the breaks figure in a pennant race and we figure it is about time that we should lose bad luck. I don't know yet about the Cards, but I do know that we'll be in there trying. The Pirates are not a cinch."

JOE MCCARTHY, CUBS: "I notice that not much has been mentioned about the Cubs and that is to our liking but when we get up there this year I hope we'll not be named another dark horse because we have a club that belongs there. We know what caused us to lose out in the last quarter in 1927 and we have made the necessary improvements."

JACK SLATTERY, BRAVES: "I am starting as the new manager of a greatly improved ball club and I know it is a good ball club. For good reasons I do not want to make any predictions but I would like to have the team judged by the nice things others are saying about it. We got away fine in the south and we do not think it was a spring flash."

JOHN MCGRAW, GIANTS: "The pennant race in the National League ought to be hotly contested with five clubs having a chance. The Giants are a better club, to my way of thinking, than they were last year. I will make no predictions."

WILBERT ROBINSON, ROBINS: "The only thing I have to say is that the Brooklyn club surely is not a dead one in the National League. We have plenty of pitching and a stronger infield and you know that baseball does not follow the figures."

JACK HENDRICKS, REDS: "The Reds are better prepared for the pennant race than they were at this time last year and we surely should get a better start. I think we are stronger than the Braves, the Giants and the Cubs."

BURT SHOTTEN, PHILLIES: "I think the Cardinals are sure to win the pennant and that is not because of my former St. Louis affiliation. The Phillies are not strong enough for the pennant or the first division but we will do better than the team did last year. We will win more games anyway."

AMERICAN LEAGUE
MILLER HUGGINS, YANKEES: "We will get stronger opposition this year and I do not expect to win the pennant by 19 games as we did last year, but I am confident we will win. We have more all-around strength than we had last year. The form shown in the pre-season exhibition games doesn't count. The Athletics will be our hardest opponent."

CONNIE MACK, ATHLETICS: "We have our hearts set on winning the pennant this year and if we fail we will have no excuses. The Athletics have been improved and even if the Yankees are a great ball club they surely can't win 20 ball games from the Browns again. We expect to get better pitching and no club in the league has better spirit."

BUCK HARRIS, SENATORS: "I do not want to predict we will win the pennant, but I am willing to claim second place and if the Yankees should slip we ought to be

TIME FOR LETTER GOLF
If these weeks before summer vacation seem a little long, take consolation from today's letter golf puzzle. A WEEK is really not much different than an HOUR, after all. You may be able to do it under the par five. One solution is on page 9.

H	O	U	R
W	E	E	K

THE RULES
1-The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.
2-You can change only one letter at a time.
3-You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each pump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.
4-The order of letters cannot be changed.
One solution is printed on page 9.

in there. We have some fine young pitching, the team is in good physical condition and we won't make some mistakes we made last year. I do not think the Yankees are in danger of falling apart but I don't believe they are as sure as they were last year."

GEORGE MCCLARTY, TIGERS: "I am not willing to do any claiming for the Tigers but I certainly am not going to make any concessions to any other club in the league. I think the Tigers are stronger, with a better throwing and faster outfield that ought to strengthen the defense by one or two runs. The Yanks look strong but they have a load to carry."

ROGER PECKINPAUGH, INDIANS: "With the Cleveland club in the process of entire reorganization, we are not shooting at the pennant. However, we have an ambition for the first division and have a chance of doing it if the pitching staff delivers up to expectations. The Yankees look hard to beat. They are a powerful club."

RAY CHALK, WHITE SOX: "The promise of new players and the improvement expected in some of the young players from last season give us a chance to hit the first division. I know there are three very strong clubs in the league but that will keep us from trying. The team that beat the Yanks will win the pennant."

DAN HOWLEY, BROWNS: "I don't know what the St. Louis club will do this year although I can be frank in the admission that we do not expect to win the pennant. We have almost a new team and while it has promise for the future only actual championship games can be the test. We won't lose 20 games to the Yanks this year."

BILL CARRIGAN, RED SOX: "We are not expecting too much from the Red Sox but we all think that we will escape from last place. We are not interested so much in what team takes eighth place. We will figure in the pennant race, however, as we expect to knock over the favorites more than we did last year."

ILLINOIS QUIZZES

ILLINOIS C. OF C.
Q—I have heard it said that the largest coal mine in the world is in Illinois. Is that true and, if so, where is it?
—P. W. K. Waukegan.
A—The New Orient mine, near West Frankfort, in Franklin county, holds the world's record for production in a single day. On Thursday, March 22, 1928, a working force of 1,645 men brought to the surface in eight hours a total of 15,174 tons of coal. This broke the record established by the same mine in November 1926, when in a single day it brought to the surface 13,586 tons. In establishing the new record so much coal was brought to the top that a train of 315 railroad cars was required to haul it away.

The average man has 24 pounds of carbon in his body.

Beauty Secrets of Galli-Curci

EDITOR'S NOTE—Amelita Galli-Curci, coloratura soprano star of the Metropolitan Opera Company, finally acquiescing to insistent requests, reveals her intimate beauty secrets in a series of six daily articles of which this is the first. She wrote them personally and exclusively for NEA Service and The Telegraph.

BY AMELITA GALLI-CURCI
For NEA Service and The Telegraph
These are things which I have never given out before, gathered from authorities in lands where I have sung.

The duty of every woman is to make herself look as well as possible; not only at night for social functions, the opera, concert, theater, or at irregular intervals, but at all times.

Once, Always
The well-groomed woman cannot pay attention to her looks occasionally; to be well-groomed once means through being well-groomed always.

It should be a fixed habit, not a matter of intermittent care. And there are many things besides cosmetics which contribute to retaining good looks and youthfulness.

I believe in make-up artistically used—used inartistically, the result makes a woman look unnatural or haggard, the very things she longs to avoid. Before adopting any set plan of make-up, however, she would do well to study her best points; this accomplished, she may set out to emphasize them. Nature does nothing in a haphazard way—follow nature's plan.

A noted beauty at the old court of France once candidly explained, "God gave me my eyes, and I did the rest for myself." I believe here she doubtless told the truth, for with good eyes to work from, the balance, if a person works wisely and not too much, may be accomplished alone.

And even when the eyes are not of themselves particularly remarkable, there are ways of treatment which certainly make for good improvement. It is sound philosophy to say that the plainest woman with the proper kind of care need not continue in that unfortunate estate.

The biggest part of any woman's beauty comes mainly from within. Also, fresh air and exercise are energetic beautifiers. To neglect both mind and body and still appear beautiful through devoting attention only to the face is to create a mask which proves an ineffectual disguise.

den anguish. "You're so pitifully young! Sixteen! I ought to be horsewhipped!"

She laughed shakily. "I'm getting older every day, David. Is it such a crime to be young? You're young, too, David—darling!" The word was dropped shyly, on a tremulous whisper.

"That's it!" David cried wildly, fiercely under his breath. "We're both young! I'm just half through college, and I haven't a cent to my name except what I earned those two weeks on Carson's farm. And I won't have any money except barely enough to live on—I work my way through college—until I've finished school. And then it will be a long, hard struggle to get a start, unless my grandfather dies by then and leaves me his farm. He's a miserly old man, darling. He thinks I'm a fool to study scientific farming, won't give me a cent I haven't wanted it—till now."

"And now, David?" she prompted softly, her fingers closing carelessly about the clenched hand which she must not kiss.

"I want to marry you, of course!" David flung the confessions at her sternly. "I love you so much it's torture to think of your going on to New York with the carnival. Oh, it's all so hopeless! We're in such a nasty jam, Sally. Darling!" He groaned, snatched up her hands, kissed them hungrily, passionately, then dropped them as if the soft, sweet flesh stung his lips. "Don't let me kiss you, Sally! For God's sake! I can't stand it! And it's not fair to you to learn what love means, when—when we can't go through with it."

"But why can't we, David?" she persisted, her love giving her amazing boldness. "I'll never love any one else. I'll wait for you, for years and years. Until I'm 18 and you're 23. You're almost 21, aren't you, David?"

"Yes," he acknowledged. "But I'm just a kid. Why, I'm a minor yet!" he reminded her with youth's bitter shame. "And so are you. We couldn't even get married legally. And we're both—wanted—by the police. I can't even figure out how I'm going to get back into A. & M. and finish my course. I couldn't let you marry a man wanted for attempted murder, even if I could support you. Oh, I guess I could make a bare living for you, but I don't want that! Not for you! I want you to have every thing lovely in the world. You've had so little, so little! I want you to have silk and velvet to make you forget blue-and-white-checked gingham. I want—"

He was going on passionately when Sally interrupted with her soft, delicious little laugh.

"I want David," she said simply. "All right!" he cried, flinging his arms wide in a gesture of utter abandonment. "We'll run away tonight. We'll keep going until we get out of the state. We'll lie about our ages. We'll find someone somewhere to marry us, and we'll—have each other if we have nothing else in the world, Sally!"

His exultant young voice and his arms demanded her, but she held back strangely, while her face went ghastly white and old in the moonlight.

"I—I forgot to tell you my news," she said dully, tonelessly, her hands flattened against her breast. "Mrs. Bybee found out something."

putting on makeup in the morning and at night in taking it off. If going out in the evening, again use cleansing cream before applying fresh make-up. To attempt at such times to freshen the make-up already on results only in unattractiveness.

The next step is to give the face a good rub with a block of ice. This should be done both night and morning. It tightens the skin and increases blood supply at the surface. Massage is good if used sparingly; otherwise it is injurious, and no less an authority than Sarah Bernhardt declared it so.

After an ice rub, then follows the application of good foundation cream. Rub this on lightly and not too much of it or if you do, it will cake the powder when you put it on as a final touch.

Apply the rouge, liquid or paste, on the foundation cream demands utmost nicety. To do it properly study nature's way of placing coloring. But select the right tone of rouge—for blondes, tangerine; for brunets, a darker rouge, raspberry or American Beauty, for instance.

Here is a list of "Be Carefuls" in putting on rouge:

Do not put it near the nose. Let the surface it covers be triangular in shape, with the point of the triangle toward the nose and widening outward.

The height of the coloring should be on the cheek bone, which gives brilliancy to the eyes.

Put no rouge on the chin, but a little delicate dab on the ear lobes.

Feel Miserable This Spring?

To Be Well Your Kidneys Must Function Properly.

SPRING find you tired, nervous and depressed? Are you stiff and aching, subject to nagging backache, drowsy headaches and dizzy spells? Are kidney exertions too frequent, scanty or burning in passage? Too often this indicates sluggish kidneys and shouldn't be neglected.

Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, increase the secretion of the kidneys and thus aid in the elimination of waste impurities. Doan's are endorsed everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

50,000 Users Endorse Doan's: Mrs. Ella Tourm, 418 N. Maple St., Centralia, Ill., says: "The flu left my kidneys disordered. The secretions passed frequently and were painful. There were pains across the small of my back and I could hardly do my housework. I felt so tired I could hardly get up in morning. Reading others were helped by Doan's Pills I tried them and they made me well."

STOP BAD BREATH

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous cathartics do without any of the bad after effects.

Olive Tablets bring no gripping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c. All Druggists.

QUARTER MILLION FANS EXPECTED TO ATTEND FIRST ONES

Today Marks Real Initiation of Base Ball Season

BY BRIAN BELL
(AP Sports Writer)

Baseballs weighted with pennant hopes and fears today bring the game home to more than 400 major league players and a quarter of a million fans.

A shivering Washington crowd saw the Senators and Boston Red Sox offer a prologue yesterday. American League fans today will see the curtain rung up at Philadelphia, Boston, Detroit and Chicago; while the National League is starting another baseball year at New York, Brooklyn, St. Louis and Cincinnati.

The opening finds the usual variety of changes.

To pick up the bat and glove dropped by the players passed on to the minors, these same minors have sent up young arms and legs to carry on Eddie Morgan, young outfielders, will bid for the favor of Cleveland fans while St. Louis has Brannon at second and Kress at short. Chalmers Cissell will be at short for the White Sox and Andy Cohen is in charge of second base for the Giants. Bill Kelley has his chance at first base for the Phillies and Arthur Whitney has won the third base bid on the same club. Doug Taitt played his first major league for the Red Sox yesterday.

A number of players may turn toward the wrong bench at the end of an inning. Half a dozen stars were for clubs last year they are against now. Rogers Hornsby will be trying to beat the Giants as Frank Hogan and Jimmy Welsh work for New York interests. Dave Bancroft will help Brooklyn and not Boston.

In the American League Lu Blue will do his first basing for St. Louis while Harry Manush, another former Detroit Tiger, is in the Brown outfield. Earl McNeely has taken off a Washington uniform to put on that of St. Louis.

Harry Rice will be hitting for the Tigers against the Browns and there is no white elephant on Chick Galloway's shirt as he sits on the Detroit bench. George Sisler is in Washington colors and Tris Speaker is wearing the blue of Philadelphia. Bing Miller's stockings have changed from brown to blue.

WANT 477 TEAMS OF SCHOOL BOYS IN LEGION LOOP

Promotion of "Sand- Lot" Game Aim in ex-Service Men

Evanston, Ill., April 11—(AP)—Four hundred sixty-seven teams is the goal of the Illinois department of the American Legion, which is sponsoring in co-operation with the national order and the National Americanism Commission, a junior baseball organization in this state. Chief purpose of the organization as set forth by the state department is to teach good sportsmanship and fair play, clean living and body development, honesty and loyalty of purpose, responsibility and good citizenship.

Any group of boys are eligible to enter the organization as a team, providing that they have not reached their seventeenth birthday. All teams in leagues organized in Illinois, must be registered with W. C. Pechold, state athletic officer, City Hall, Evanston, Ill., not later than June 30, 1928.

County championship will be determined probably during the week beginning July 9. The district championships will be played off July 16, winners to compete in divisional series, July 23.

The state championship series—six divisional winners competing—will be played during the week beginning July 30, in one of the major league ball parks in Chicago.

The state champions will in turn play for the regional title August 6, of which Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan are members. Regional winners will meet in the eastern and western champions. These two teams will be brought together in the Junior World Series, which will be played early in September.

No team may carry more than fourteen players, and all players must have been enrolled on or before June 30. Big league rules will be followed and all games played on regulation diamonds.

To further the Legion's work, a $50,000 appropriation has been given by the National and American Leagues, for insuring transportation expenses of the regional and sectional tournaments and the Junior World Series.

Schedules for the county, district, and divisional series will be announced at a later date by Bechtold. Assisting him are four committee members: Jack Morris, Jr., and Abe Goldberg, of Chicago; Arthur Little of East Moline, and E. H. Burns of Champaign.

It is estimated that over 4,755 teams will participate in the various state tournaments.

Big Ten Baseball

Season is Opened

Chicago, April 11—(AP)—The Big Ten baseball season opened today with the University of Illinois, co-champions with Iowa in 1927, playing Purdue at Champaign.

Two other games are on this week's schedule. They are Illinois at Iowa and Indiana at Ohio State. The Illinois, back from a victorious southern training trip, are favorites.

CRISP NEWS TO CIGAR SMOKERS, 5c

One nickel. It won't break you, and it won't make us. But it will bring you some real news about cigars—and Havana Ribbon in particular. Not that this thirty-year-old cigar hasn't always been clearly at the head of five-cent cigars. But Havana Ribbon today carries a story of quality and money value never before attained in the history of 5-cent cigars: It's ripe tobacco.

Ripe tobacco (the full-flavored middle leaves of the plant) gives a cigar a true, mellow-mild flavor you can't mistake. Long filler keeps the tobacco in the cigar—and out of your mouth (no short, loose ends). Not another cigar made that combines these two great features with such completeness for the money! Popularity has done it. Millions being smoked. Immense production has brought manufacturing costs down and quality up. Try Havana Ribbon and get the startling significance of these facts direct. A nickel is all that stands between you and a pleasant surprise.

Also sold in Practical Pocket Packages of five cigars.

CUBS AND REDS READY TO OPEN BIG YEAR TODAY

Both Teams Expect to Win Opening Game in Cincinnati

Cincinnati, O., April 11—The town by the Rhine still looks upon its opening baseball day with the awe of a heathen looking upon an idol. Open day is and always has been "Der Tag" so tonight some 30,000 purgers lucky enough to own tickets permitting their presence when the Cubs and Reds start down the long trail, sipped contentedly of their heimgemacht and with every sip remarked, "Veil, today it comes."

"It" may come in the form of a Reds' victory which will be well for future business. Then again it may come in the form of a loud and effective hallo from the Cub bats that for the last couple weeks have been bombing ominously across the country. In this event Heinie, at least most of him, will go back to another year to the placid existence that includes blustery radio music in the parlor and bubbling yeast in the kitchen, but no baseball.

Root on Hill for Cubs

Not because he wants to discourage Heinie from future attendance but because he had the welfare of his own gang at heart—you might even say he has pennant ideas—McCarthy is going to abide by his original choice and let Charley Root, last year's leading pitcher of the parent major carry the load on the mound. Apparently unconcerned over the assignment, Charley spent the day at his old home thirty miles from here. The Reds have beaten him only once since he came into the league so there was no reason for him to worry. Some managers might have wanted their starting pitcher around for the final practice but McCarthy is different in little things such as this.

The hopes of the Rhineland will be pinned on Senor Adolfo Luque, the squatty Cubanola, who in his recent Florida travels is said to have sipped of water that brought back his speed and curves in all their one time splendor.

A Raw, Sore Throat

Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. Brings quick relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuritis, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds on the chest.

dor. He is pronounced to be a better pitcher than at any time in his history past and maybe he is, but this is of no importance in the eyes of the Cubs. McCarthy has them thinking they can hit anybody any time and maybe they can. Anyway, they will do their best to convince the Cuban his water cure was the bunk.

Everything Rosy, McCarthy Says
As McCarthy stood around Redland field yesterday afternoon and watched his crew put in a few rounds of practice, the while breaking in their new gray road uniform, he ventured a few expressions as to what he expects during the turbulent months that will turn him from a healthy man into a chronic sufferer from nervous indigestion.

"I think we look pretty good," he declared. "Weigh the present layout with what we had a year ago today and there is no argument. We have a real outfield, real catchers, a good infield and plenty of pitchers."

While McCarthy was saying the above, Molly Maguire, the new second sacker, stepped up to take a practice swing against Sheriff Blake.

"There's a fellow worth watching," he said. "He'll poke the ball feebly to an infielder one time and the next knock it right against the fence. He knows how to do things around second base. Baseball is natural with him. He will surprise a few people."

McCarthy Has Eye for Talent

The above would vindicate the Cubs' chief is satisfied with his second base choice and his baseball judgment is worthy of respect, as can easily be pointed out. He was the one who ordered a draft put in for Wilson when the Giants overlooked their option on the player. He was responsible for buying Stephenson and Webb. He asked the club to land Cuyler at any cost. Nobody can question these moves.

A year ago when English looked hopeless McCarthy maintained the kid had unlimited possibilities. Before the season was over English made good on the boss' predictions and today stands as the coming shortstop star of the league.

When the fun starts today, the Cubs will not be entirely surrounded by hostile voices. Harry Burton arrived today to see that there was nothing wrong with the tailoring of the new uniforms and he's going to stay over to see what happens. This morning owner William "Wrigley" President William Veck, John Seys, Otto Spielman, William Walker and a dozen others arrived fully prepared to collect the spoils of the battle. And the faithful Dan Cahill who has been on the heels of the Cubs since the day they left Chicago, stands ready to challenge the entire town of Cincinnati if anybody speaks disparagingly of his pets.

According to early "A.P." reports, the Deneen-Emmerson-Carlstrom ticket has swept Illinois for a decisive victory. Certainly Lee county has given Louis L. Emmerson and his running mates a splendid vote and so far as the Republicans of this vicinity are concerned, that group of candidates is the choice of the G. O. P.

Repeating our words of last Saturday, The Telegraph bows to the voice of the majority. We were sincere in our suggestions but we are not so unreasonable as to think that everybody else but us was wrong.

The great majority of the voters registered their choice. We can be certain that the Republican ticket which will be offered at next fall's election will be the selection of a real Republican primary.

In this county, friends of Governor Small did their utmost to support his candidacy. The vote here was far below the vote for Governor Small four years ago and far below the vote that we believed Governor Small had a right to expect from Dixon and Lee County. However, Governor Small had a great deal more support in Lee County than in neighboring counties and the only answer seems to be that the public, following its own peculiar custom, demanded a change. (Anyone knowing why, will please stand.)

Anyway, the people have spoken. So be it.

Asked for a statement early this morning Attorney Henry C. Warner, manager of the Emmerson-Carlstrom-Glenn-Stratton campaign in Lee County gave the following interview:

"The Republican voters of this county are to be congratulated upon their decision at yesterday's primaries. The Republican voters of Illinois have selected a ticket that can be offered to the voting public at the general election next fall without apology and with a certainty of election.

"The friends of Mr. Emmerson and the candidates on his slate, all of whom seem certain of election, have been loyal and have given support that is gratifying to all who assisted with his campaign.

"We look forward to the general election this fall with confidence and with the expectation that we will have the backing and friendship of every republican in the state of Illinois.

HENRY C. WARNER, Manager.

Appreciation to Willing Workers of Telephone Co.

The Evening Telegraph is indebted to the faithful workers of the company for the superb service rendered throughout the night in making it possible to obtain the results from the various precincts throughout the county. The operators were prompt in their duties and their cooperation has made it possible for the Telegraph to present to its readers one of the most complete election returns in the history of the county.

F. S. Coakley, wire chief, was at the Telegraph office throughout the night in charge of the two Associated Press printers, which brought returns from all parts of the state. The Telegraph takes this opportunity of expressing its appreciation to the employees of the Dixon Home Telephone Company and especially the young ladies at the boards, for the important part played by them.

Several additional telephones were installed in the editorial rooms Tuesday afternoon to expedite the task of gathering information throughout the county and surrounding territory. A force of special workers were also on duty throughout the night gathering early information for Telegraph readers.

LEE COUNTY VOTERS SAID THEIR SAY IN ASSURED TERMS IN TUESDAY'S POLL

Lee county has declared itself in no uncertain terms for Louis L. Emmerson for Governor of Illinois and against Governor Len Small, candidate to succeed himself.

In a fairly representative vote, the Republican exercisers of franchise in this county yesterday said, to the tune of 6013 to 2337, (almost two to one) that Mr. Emmerson should be the Republican nominee for Governor of Illinois.

Oscar Nelson of Geneva and Omer Custer of Galesburg, both of whom received the support of the Small organization, will be nominated in Lee county Mrs. McCormick and Henry R. Rathbone were favored for Congressmen-at-Large.

Former Congressman John C. McKenzie was the first choice of Lee county voters for delegate to the republican national convention at Kansas City and A. N. Abbott was the second man on this ticket to be chosen. Two delegates are to be named by the congressional district.

For State Central Committee on the Republican ticket Franklin J. Stransky of Savanna, former Circuit Judge in this district, ran three to two over Wm. M. McHenry of Rochelle, in Lee county.

Fred E. Sterling of Rockford, candidate for re-election as Lieutenant Governor, ran 5 to 2 over his opponent, Theo. D. Smith, in this county.

George Dixon Elected. Unofficial returns indicate the nomination of George C. Dixon, candidate for Representative in the General Assembly. With only a few pre-

G. O. P. STANDARD BEARER

Louis L. Emmerson, merchant and banker of Mount Vernon, Ill., nominated by the Republicans of Illinois yesterday as their candidate for Governor, claims the distinction of having rolled up the largest vote ever accorded any candidate for state or federal office in Illinois.

His public life began in 1904 as a member of the state board of equalization. Four years later he became a member of the prison commission, and then in 1916 he was elected Secretary of State and has twice been re-elected, his plurality in 1924 being 923,356.

His campaign was based on "an efficient administration of the secretary of state's office" which, he said, should be duplicated in the executive chair.

Mr. Emmerson was born in 1863, in Albion, Ill., where he lived until he moved to Mt. Vernon in 1887.

Baker Wins Over Senator H. Hicks

(Telegraph Special Service.)
Rockford, Ill., April 11.—Charles Baker of Monroe Center early this morning was conceded the election of State Senator from the Twelfth district over Senator Herbert Hicks of this city with a majority of 40 votes. A total of 54 precincts in Winnebago and Ogle counties gave Baker 5,745 and Hicks, 5,705. The contest was close, throughout, and early in the evening, precincts outside of Rockford gave Baker 1,405 and Hicks, 1,183.

precincts missing from DeKalb and Whiteside counties, Dixon is clearly in the lead with Allen second. If the official canvass carries out the trend of unofficial returns, Dixon and Allen will be the two Republican candidates for the house this fall.

One of the outstanding results of local battles was the decisive victory of Frank M. Banker, Franklin Grove physician, who is completing a term as coroner, over Ray E. Frohs of the same town, for the Coroner's nomination. Coroner Banker was nominated for re-election by a three to one vote.

Congressman Wm. R. Johnson; Martin J. Gannon, candidate for Senatorial Committee; Edwin S. Rosecrans, candidate for Circuit Clerk, and Mark C. Keller, running for re-election as State's Attorney, all unopposed, received fine complimentary votes.

Lowden Goes Big.
Frank O. Lowden, republican candidate for president of the United States was accorded a fine vote in Lee county. With but four precincts to be heard from, a total of 6,924 votes were cast for the Sinnissippi farmer candidate.

Senator Otis Glenn received 4,498 votes against Frank L. Smith's 2,997, with but one precinct to be heard from, for the office of United States Senator.

Secretary of State Louis L. Emmerson of Mt. Vernon polled a vote of 6,013 against Governor Len Small's 2,337 for the governorship of Illinois. This was the total unofficial vote for Lee county.

Fred Sterling of Rockford, Lieutenant Governor, with but one precinct to be heard from, received 5,328 over his opponent, Theodore D. Smith, who was given 2,199 votes.

Stratton Gets Fine Vote.
William J. Stratton, former director of the state Department of Conservation and well known throughout the county was accorded a fine vote, receiving 4,236 in a field of four candidates.

Charles W. Vail received 927, Judge Robert E. Gentzel, 1,024 and Carl F. Mueller, 414 for the office of Secretary of State.

Oscar Nelson was accorded a vote of 5,123 against 1,323 polled by his opponent, James H. Richmond, for the office of Auditor of Public Accounts.

For the office of State Treasurer, Omer N. Custer received 3,786 against 2,337 for his opponent, I. J. Brown.

Carlstrom Wins.
In this county Oscar E. Carlstrom of Aledo, Attorney General of Illinois, candidate for re-election, defeated Senator John Dally of Peoria for that office by a vote of 5,328 against 2,081, with but one precinct missing.

Ruth Hanna McCormick of the Rock River farms, near Byron, Ill., the ticket in the vote for Congressmen-at-Large, receiving 4,928 votes. Henry Rathbone, well known throughout the county, ran a close

VETERAN SECRETARY OF STATE SWEEPS COMMONWEALTH IN BATTLE FOR G. O. P. NOMINATION FOR EXECUTIVE APPARENTLY

Defeat of Governor Small and All His Allies Indicated in Reports Received From All Parts of State Early This Morning—

Louis Lincoln Emmerson, 64-year-old Secretary of State, was apparently swept to an unexpectedly large majority over Small for the gubernatorial nomination. His lead, with 4043 of the state's 6634 precincts tabulated, was 56,526 indicating, if the percentage of advantage were maintained in remaining returns, a final majority in the neighborhood of 400,000.

The Emmerson vote in the 4043 precincts was 614,840, the totals representing 2290 downstate and 1753 Cook county precincts. The vote for Small in the same precincts was 358,314.

Judge John A. Swanson, who headed the Republican ticket against Governor Small, was the crusading candidate who apparently had won nomination as state's attorney. He ran far behind the Emmerson lead, but he was maintaining a margin which he was confident carried victory.

Emmerson, Swanson and Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom, also successful in his efforts to win renomination, were top cards in the Republican group which recognized the leadership of United States Senator Charles S. Deneen. The all-but-certain success of virtually the entire Deneen slate held powerful political portent. For it opened the road to party control by Senator Deneen who has been "out" while Mayor Thompson and State's Attorney Crowe were "in." Federal patronage and isolated holds in county and city offices was the best Senator Deneen could command against the strong political machine created through the Small-Thompson-Crowe combine.

Another Deneen success was scored in the contest of Otis F. Glenn, Chicago and Murphysboro lawyer, who, although running behind the trail-blazing lead of Emmerson, had a marked vote advantage over Frank L. Smith, with 3659 of the state's 6634 precincts reported. Glenn had 445,770 votes to Smith's 324,399. These returns included more than half of Cook county's 3056 voting places.

There was no contest for Presidential preference on the Republican ballot which carried only the name of Illinois' war governor, Frank O. Lowden. There was, however, a "draft" Coolidge campaign fostered by Mayor Thompson, whose avowed effort was to win the Illinois delegation to the Kansas City convention. A large Lowden vote, however, defeated this sentiment, although several thousand voters wrote in the name of President Coolidge.

Chicago, April 11.—(AP)—With new returns from the statewide primary piling up a majority for the republican faction headed by United States Senator Charles S. Deneen that, if maintained, spelled certain defeat for the opposing faction headed by Governor Small and Mayor Thompson. Senator Deneen at midnight tonight appeared before County Judge Edmund J. Jarecki and made charges that the city is in the grip of a "reign of terror" inspired by Deneen opponents trying to steal the election.

Senator Deneen charged that in the face of constantly mounting figures for the candidates of his faction, the Deneen watches were being "shot, beaten, slugged, thrown into automobiles and kidnapped without any interference from the police."

Louis L. Emmerson, the Deneen candidate for Governor, was leading Governor Len Small by almost 150,000 votes on the basis of reports from 2,577 of the state's 6,634 precincts. These precincts, including 1,003 from Cook county, Chicago, gave Emmerson 381,680 and Small 324,433.

Col. Frank L. Smith, the Small-Thompson candidate for United States Senator, was trailing Otis F. Glenn, the Deneen senatorial candidate by more than 50,000 votes on returns from 2,095 precincts, including 103 from Chicago. These precincts gave Glenn 236,410 votes and Smith 184,275.

Early in the evening Emmerson issued a statement that he would win by more than 250,000 votes, 50,000 more than was predicted by the Deneen organization prior to the campaign. If the ratio for the entire state was the same as for the 2,577 precincts reports, Emmerson's majority would total more than 350,000 votes, but the Emmerson forces conceded that this would probably be reduced.

Returns from 3,754 precincts for Governor, (Rep.) give:

Small	329,623
Emmerson	557,182
This included 2,173 downstate precincts which gave:
Small	189,558

BOYS HANDBOOK OF SCOUTING IS GIVEN OFFICIALS

Dixon Men Get Copy of Book: Similar
One to Pres.

President Calvin Coolidge was presented with the 500,000th copy of the new "Handbook for Boys of the Boy Scouts of America" by Eagle Scout H. Loren Adams of Washington, D. C. Monday, and on the same day Eagle Scouts of Black Hawk Area presented copies of the book to County Superintendent of Schools L. W. Miller, Mayor Frank D. Palmer, Superintendent I. B. Potter of the Dixon schools, Dr. Warren G. Murray of the Dixon State Hospital and Circuit Judge Harry Edwards of Dixon; Leon Knight of Byron, County Judge Zick of Polo and Mayor O'Brien of Rochelle.

The president of the United States, who is also honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America, personally accepted the book and it is expected that he will send his greetings to the Boy Scouts from the White House. The presentation of the Handbook for Boys was made simultaneously with the opening of the eighteenth annual meeting of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America, which is being held at San Francisco this year.

With a continued yearly circulation larger than that of any book excepting the Bible, the Handbook for Boys has the prestige of being the best known book for boys in the world. When a completely new handbook was issued during the last months of 1927, the former editions had a circulation exceeding 3,000,000 copies and it was estimated that nearly 5,000,000 boys had read its pages. It is a tribute to the new Handbook for Boys that it has been so greatly in demand that in less than five months time it has gone through five printings.

Simultaneously with the presentation to the president of the United States, copies of the Handbook for Boys were presented by Eagle Scouts to the governors of the 48 states and to mayors and college presidents throughout the nation, who also sent greetings to the Boy Scouts of America on Easter Monday.

In one paragraph of his letter to President Coolidge, Chief Scout Executive James E. West said: "We have endeavored to make this book not merely interesting and helpful to boys in carrying out the useful and practical activities of the program, we have tried to emphasize the importance of the scout oath and the scout law and the spirit of service which are the primary concern of all scout leaders."

Political Gossip

Washington, April 10—(AP)—Presidential politics advanced another big stride today with clarification of additional convention delegate leanings in two states and as many insular possessions, in which Hoover and Smith figured, and the bringing up to the front line of battle of more oral artillery for Walsh.

By nightfall, three more states—Illinois, Nebraska, and Oklahoma—were to know how they stood, at least partially, for nominees at Kansas City and Houston.

Hoover, now ahead in the race for the Republican presidential nomination, today could lay claim to perhaps 17 more convention delegates as a result of party conventions and other activity yesterday. Rhode Island's state meeting recommended the commerce secretary to its 13 delegates, the territorial convention of Hawaii instructed its two for him, and reports from Manila indicated the two Philippine delegates, chosen as unopposed last February, now favor Hoover in the contest.

Utah For Smith
Smith, leading in the democratic bid for delegates, apparently was the only one of the dozen or more presidential aspirants to pick up support yesterday. The Utah state convention selected 16 Houston delegates, each with a half vote, without expressing a choice, although backers of the New York governor claimed all eight votes would be for their candidate. Utah's action was regarded as an upset, however, as Smith's supporters had counted on a straight out instructed delegation there.

Other Monday political developments brought a lengthy tribute to Walsh, Montana's entry in the June democratic convention, by William G. McAdoo, who engaged in the memorable deadlock with Smith for the 1924 nomination and who heads the slate of Walsh delegates in California, and a decision by the Hoover forces to resume active campaigning in Ohio where his fight has been in abeyance since the death of his April 24 primary opponent, Senator Willis.

Lowden, neck and neck with Hoover in the pre-convention struggle, looked to Illinois today to put him out in front again in the delegate contest. The former Illinois Governor was the only republican entered in that state's primary today and his managers expected to land at least 30 of the 50 district delegates. Eleven delegates at large will be selected later.

Smith's supporters had claimed most, if not all, of the 50 democratic district delegates voted on in Illinois today, and also the eight delegates-at-large to be chosen later.

VALE: GOOD CHIEFTAIN

Gov. Len Small.

Glenn Apparent Winner Over Col. Smith for Senator

O. F. Glenn, apparently nominated for U. S. Senator over Col. Frank L. Smith, served in the senate from 1920 to 1924, and was not a candidate for re-nomination. At the close of his legislative career at Springfield he opened law offices at Chicago, at the same time maintaining his offices in Murphysboro.

The son of pioneer Illinois parents, Mr. Glenn was born at Mattoon in 1879 and has been a lifelong resident of the state. When his father died in 1912, he was left the responsibility of managing the family stock farm in Jackson county in addition to his law practice.

Glenn attended the public schools in Mattoon and was graduated from Champaign high school, and at the age of 20 was graduated from the University of Illinois Law School, the youngest member of his class. He opened his Murphysboro law office in 1901 and his first public office was as state's attorney of Jackson county for two terms. He was a delegate to the Republican national convention in 1920 and 1924.

Senator Reed, Walsh and Smith will line up for their first definite test of strength against each other in one state in the California primary on May 1. All have complete delegate slates in the field for that contest.

Mrs. Vernon Diehl and son of Rockford, Mrs. Emma Rae of Polo, C. A. Miller and sons, Forrest and Harold spent Sunday at the Dale Rae home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Conrad of Polo visited Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Conrad Sunday.

The Ladies Aid spent a pleasant day Thursday—even if it did rain—at the home of Rev. and Mrs. S. S. Plum. Fourteen ladies, seven children and three men enjoyed the delicious dinner of chicken and many other good things to eat. Bazaar work and "talking about the weather" kept the ladies busy. After thanking the host and hostess for a fine time, all returned home hoping to meet again in two weeks with Mrs. Will Pope.

Leslie Harmon, Ambrose Stover, Misses Vera Shultz and Helen Mosteller who are students at the Polo Community High School spent their spring vacation last week at their homes in this vicinity.

Mrs. Uriah Stouffer and Miss Helen Mosteller accompanied Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cordell to Polo last Tuesday evening where they attended services at the Church for the Brethren.

Rev. S. S. Plum being the speaker.

Mrs. J. B. Yohn has been quite ill with bronchial pneumonia during the past week. Miss Marie Ables of Forrester is caring for her.

Mrs. Ed Twigg is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Pete Rose and family at Ueru.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Garman and son Merritt of Forrester; Mr. and Mrs. Cramer Binkley and family were Sunday guests of Mrs. Mary Binkley.

Mrs. Garman who has been staying with her mother, prepared the dinner.

Reuben Harmon, son of John and Nancy Harmon was born April 13, 1835 at Washington County, Md., and passed away April 6, 1928, at his home near Haldane, aged 92 years, 11 months and 24 days. Death was caused by the infirmities of old age and general break down in health. At the age of four years he came with his parents to Illinois where he has since resided in this vicinity. On September 29, 1859 he was united in marriage with Mary Hurdle and for almost 67 years they have shared life's joys and sorrows together. During the Civil War Mr. Harmon enlisted with Co. F, 15th Illinois Volunteer Infantry and served until the end of the war. Thirteen children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Harmon and two predeceased him in death. Those who are mourning the death of a loved one are the bereaved wife and eleven children: Frank of Marshfield, Ia.; Mrs. Martha Alsop of Carthage, Missouri; Robert of Garwin, Iowa; Mrs. Olive Bakener, John and Charles of Byron; Mrs. Mary Twigg and Mrs. Anna Timmer of Forrester; Mrs. Alameda Petrie, Clinton and Harvey of this vicinity, thirty-four grandchildren, two great, great grandchildren, and one brother, Amos Harmon.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Haldane church and were conducted by Rev. R. V. Strole of the Adeline U. B. church, assisted by Rev. S. S. Plum. Mr. Harmon was a member of the United Brethren church for over 66 years. A large crowd of friends were present at the last services to pay their respect to one who had lived so many years in this vicinity. Burial was in the Haldane cemetery.

Beauty Secrets of Galli-Curci

EDITOR'S NOTE—Amelita Galli-Curci, coloratura soprano star of the Metropolitan Opera Company, finally acquiescing to insistent requests, reveals her intimate beauty secrets in a series of six daily articles of which this is the first. She wrote them personally and exclusively for NEA Service and The Telegraph.

BY
AMELITA GALLI CURCI
For NEA Service and The Telegraph
These are things which I have never given out before, gathered from authorities in lands where I have sung.

The duty of every woman is to make herself look as well as possible; not only at night for social functions, the opera, concert, theater, or at irregular intervals, but at all times.

Once, Always
The well-groomed woman cannot pay attention to her looks occasionally; to be well-groomed once comes through being well-groomed always. It should be a fixed habit, not a matter of intermittent care. And there are many things besides cosmetics which contribute to retaining good looks and youthfulness.

I believe in make-up artistically used—used instinctively, the result makes a woman look unnatural or haggard, the very things she longs to avoid. Before adopting any set plan of make-up, however, she would do well to study her best points; this accomplished, she may set out to emphasize them. Nature does nothing in a haphazard way—follow nature's plan.

A noted beauty at the old court of France once candidly explained, "God gave me my eyes, and I did the rest for myself." I believe her; she doubtless told the truth, for with good eyes to work from, the balance, if a person works wisely and not too well, may be accomplished alone.

And even when the eyes are not of themselves particularly remarkable, there are ways of treatment which certainly make for good improvement. It is sound philosophy to say that the plainest woman with the proper kind of care need not continue in that unfortunate estate.

Beauty from Within
The biggest part of any woman's beauty comes mainly from within. Also, fresh air and exercise are energetic beautifiers. To neglect both mind and body and still appear beautiful through devoting attention only to the face is to create a mask which proves an ineffectual disguise. Come women willingly devote hours to make-up, but shun the thought of exercise, mental or physical. They reap a proportionately scanty benefit.

These articles are not to be a homily, but a heart-to-heart discourse on beauty secrets. Therefore, to make it of any practical value, not only part of the truth, but the whole truth must be told.

Before taking up those things, however, which some of our sisters regard as superfluous notions, I will discuss the more familiar aspect of beauty secrets.

Let us begin with that important feature capable in itself of such wealth of expression—the eyes.

Make-up color to match the eyes of the individual should be used, brown, black or blue, put lightly on the lids and delicately beneath eyes themselves. The custom originated in Japan where, having dark eyes, they blackened the lids and widened the contour of the eyes with black coloring.

Need I add that this application of the proper color should be done with discretion, artistic reason, and absolute neatness. Any attempt to brighten the eyes with nostrums is dangerous, but a good eye tonic is beneficial.

If you have not fresh, clear skin underneath, the application of cosmetics looks awful. But never should the face be washed with water. Cleansing cream is the best medium to use. Bathe the face in it before putting on makeup in the morning and at night in taking it off. If going out in the evening, again use cleansing cream before applying fresh make-up. To attempt at such times to freshen the make-up already on results only in unnaturalness.

The next step is to give the face a good rub with a block of ice. This should be done both night and morning. It tightens the skin and increases blood supply at the surface. Massage is good if used sparingly; otherwise it is injurious, and no less an authority than Sarah Bernhardt declared it so.

After an ice rub, there follows the application of good foundation cream. Rub this on lightly and not too much of it or if you do, it will cake the powder when you put it on as a final touch.

Apply the rouge, liquid or paste, on the foundation cream—demands utmost nicety. To do it properly study nature's way of placing coloring. But select the right tone of rouge—for blondes, tangerine; for brunets, a darker rouge, raspberry or American Beauty, for instance.

Here is a list of "Be Carefuls" in putting on rouge:
Do not put it near the nose.
Let the surface it covers be triangular in shape, with the point of the triangle toward the nose and widening outward.

The height of the coloring should be on the cheek bone, which gives brilliancy to the eyes.

Put no rouge on the chin, but a little delicate dab on the ear lobes.

POPLAR TREES ARE HAPPIEST—

Poplar trees are laughing trees. With lilting silver call. Willow trees droop weepingly. And never laugh at all.

Maple trees are gorgeous trees in crimson silks and gold; Pine trees are but sober trees, aloof and very old.

Black-oak trees walk sturdily. And live oaks eager run. The sycamores stand lazily. Beneath the summer sun.

But poplar trees are laughing trees. Wherever they may grow. The poplar trees are happiest. Of all the trees I know.

—John Russell McCarthy, in University of California Chronicle.

Schumann-Heink

Happy: She Gives Estate to "Boys"

Minneapolis, Minn., April 10.—(AP)—Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink, the singer, was happy today because Schumann-Heink, the mother, had made a sacrifice for "her boys."

She gave away her $230,000 estate at Gross, Mont. near San Diego, Cal., gave it to the "boys"—disabled veterans of the World War—where the needy ones and their families might find rest and care.

The noted singer—"Mother Schumann"—the boys called her—presented a deed to the estate to Mayor George E. Leach of Minneapolis, at a "ham and cabbage feed" given in her honor here last night by local disabled veterans.

The former service men of the country had honored her two sons who died in the World War—one on the side of Germany and the other on the side of America.

"You honored me by calling me 'Mother,'" she said.

"You honored me by honoring my boy who died on a submarine. He may have killed some American boys but he couldn't help that. It was war. But you honored him and I love you. That is why I give you Gross Mont. I am a mother who learned to understand you."

The dinner and announcements over, the "boys" played "taps" for Mother Schumann's two sons who lost their lives in the war.

FINDS GIRLS EXPAND READING INTERESTS—

Sweetbriar, Va.—(AP)—Fiction continues to hold the interest of the modern girl student, but does not form such a large part of her reading as in the past, in the opinion of Miss Elizabeth Steptoe, librarian at Sweetbriar college. Newspapers are read twice as assiduously, and modern poetry, biography, art and contemporary travel also claim an important part in the changed taste of the college girl, she says.

MISS RUTH DANA AND MISS ALICE POWELL RETURN—

Misses Ruth Dana and Alice Powell of Lake Forest College returned this morning to their studies after spending the Easter week end with the Fred Dana and Dr. G. P. Powell families in Dixon.

MOTORED TO RACINE TO SPEND EASTER—

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beard motored to Racine, Wis., to spend Easter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Beard. The Messrs. Beard are brothers.

MENU for the FAMILY

BREAKFAST—Shredded fresh pineapple, cereal, cream, fried cornmeal mush, maple syrup, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Vegetable goulash, hearts of lettuce with French dressing, cookies, milk, tea.

Dinner—Stuffed pork tenderloin, grilled sweet potatoes, buttered spinach, stuffed apple salad, orange sherbet, milk, coffee.

Apples are cut in slices about an inch thick, pared, cored and dipped in lemon juice. One or two slices are arranged on a bed of lettuce and the cavities are filled with a mixture of cream cheese, chopped seeded raisins and chopped nuts. Cooked salad dressing masks the whole. If possible use "cluster" raisins which must be plumped in boiling water before seeding.

Vegetable Goulash
One cup dried kidney beans, 1 cup diced carrot, 1 sweet green pepper, 1 large onion, 1-3 cup rice, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 1-4 pound fresh mushrooms, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 teaspoon salt.

Soak beans in cold water to more than cover over night. Drain and simmer in boiling water for three hours, letting water cook away as much as possible without burning. Drain and add tomatoes, carrot, pepper minced, onion peeled and sliced, and salt. Simmer until vegetables are tender. In the meantime cook rice in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and add to vegetables. Saute mushrooms in butter. Arrange vegetable and rice mixture on a hot deep platter and sprinkle mushrooms over the top. The mushrooms can be chopped or left whole.

Election Officers Prairieville P. T. A.

The regular monthly meeting of the Prairieville Parent-Teachers Association was held at the school house on Thursday evening. Owing to the inclement weather there were only about seventy-five in attendance. The usual business meeting was held and election of new officers for the coming year resulted as follows:

President—Harry Fredericks.
Vice President—Mrs. Edna Pine.
Secretary and Treasurer—Mrs. Charles Reed.

L. A. Thummel was elected a delegate to the state convention which is to be held at Streator.

Miss Marguerite Richardson gave a report of the Parent-Teachers convention which met in Dixon on Wednesday evening. Mrs. Edna Pine also gave some interesting remarks on the meeting. The hospitality committee who will be in charge at the next meeting are Mrs. Sol Rutt, Mrs. Henry Jennings, Mrs. John Lawrence. At the close of the business meeting delicious refreshments of sandwiches, pickles, cake, candy, Easter eggs, coffee and cocoa. The next and last meeting will be on May 3, when the different committees will be appointed.

OPERA SINGER BOASTS AMERICANISM ABROAD—

Paris.—(AP)—Disseminating American culture is one of the phases of the European tour of Miss Cecil Arden, Metropolitan Opera singer, who expects to spend the next two years abroad.

"Artists need to change their environment at intervals," she said. "They are like professors who need sabbatical years to stimulate and invigorate them. Each new public gives something to the artist."

Americanism is a hobby with Miss Arden. She stresses the fact that she was born in New York and all of her essential musical training was received there.

SILK TAILORED SUITS ARE SPRING OFFERS—

Paris.—(AP)—Two piece suits made of silk instead of wool are included in many important dressmaking collections for spring wear.

Most of them have short jackets and are made like tailors of wool, without reinforced shoulders or stiffened collars. Heavy silk faille and silk ottoman are often used.

A favorite model has a short jacket with a group of tiny inverted tucks to indicate the waistline in back. Others have fitted jackets of finger-tip length.

PRESBYTERIAN GUILD TO MEET THURSDAY NIGHT—

The Presbyterian Guild will meet Thursday evening with Mrs. Ralph Gonneman at her home, 822 Peoria avenue, with Miss Mildred Larson as assistant hostess. A good attendance is desired.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY TO MEET THURSDAY—

The Missionary Society of the Kingdom church will meet in the church parlors Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All members are requested to be present.

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUMNER

A little 10-year-old girl of Cleveland was stopped by a downtown movie house doorman the other day. The small one had no ticket. Investigation revealed that Sylvia had seen more than 3000 movies in her brief life without ever paying a cent for them. She readily revealed her method to juvenile court authorities. "I always went in behind big fat men and ladies with big fur coats on," she explained. Sylvia has done her One Eyed Connolly stuff about a half dozen times a week for the past five years, it seems.

SHE'S NATURAL RESULT

Sylvia is an outstanding example of the ingenuities, independence, slickness and pioneering spirit in most all modern youth. All modern education leads to the Sylvia result. We teach our youngsters to "work on their own," and when the inevitable result comes, make quite a to-do and turn the Sylvia over to juvenile court. Is it possible that modern education needs to devote its attention some what to the problem of developing a little less resourcefulness, ingenuity and utter fearlessness on the part of our children, at least, a little respect for property and authority rights? To put it bluntly, modern kids are getting too "darned bright and cute" to be palatable.

CAMILIA WANTS ESCORT

It must come as a shock to garden variety girls to learn that even beautiful famous ladies meet with the universal problem of procuring male companionship. For instance, Camilia Horn, considered by many the most beautiful woman on the screen, says that she can hardly wait till her husband comes from abroad so that she can go to dances "and things."

"I really know only two men," says this blonde lady. "One of them is nice but a poor dancer and the other is a good dancer but not so nice. So Camilia stays home for the time being."

Return to School After Easter Vacation

A number of the students in Dixon and vicinity, who have been enjoying the Easter vacation at their homes, have returned to their school duties, or will return within the next day or two. Some of the activities of the collegiate are chronicled below, with more to follow tomorrow.

Barry Lennon has returned to his studies at the University of Illinois, also Henry Hubbell, Miss Marie Worley, Miss Rachel Kennedy and Miss Louise Brewster after the Easter vacation. Gordon McNicol and Oliver Rogers returned to Northwestern. Misses Ruth Dana and Alice Powell, who remained over for the dance given by the Entertaining Knights at the Brinton Memorial Masonic Temple last evening, returned early this morning to Lake Forest College.

Allen Glassburn returned to Onarga Military School after spending the week-end with his parents. Eugene Vest who attends Northwestern College returned Monday evening to his studies after spending the Easter vacation at his home. Miss Cornelia Alice Millar returned to Champaign today to resume her studies at the U. of I. after the Easter vacation at home. Carl Buchner has returned to Northwestern. Thomas Erwin has returned to Georgetown University at Washington, D. C.

Miss Lola Fischer and Roy G. Long Are Wed

Miss Lola Janet Fischer of Dixon and Roy Gilbert Long of LaMoille were united in marriage in a pretty ceremony Saturday, performed at the home of Rev. J. G. Schwab of Freeport on Saturday, April 7, at 2 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Long of Sublette were the only attendants. The beautiful ring ceremony was used.

The bride is a graduate of the Mendota high school and for the past four years has been a valued employee at the Northern Illinois Utilities Co. at Dixon, and she has made many friends during her residence in Dixon who wish her every happiness.

The bridegroom is employed by the Standard Oil Company and is located at LaMoille where the young couple will make their home. He is a progressive and admirable young man. Mr. and Mrs. Long have the best wishes of their many friends.

REBEKAHS TO HOLD SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION—

A school of instruction for Minnie Bell Rebekah Lodge, No. 423, will be held Friday evening, April 13, in I. O. O. F. hall, preceded by a picnic supper at 6:30 to which all members are invited. Mrs. C. A. Robbins, President of the Rebekah State Assembly urges a good attendance from Dixon and vicinity.

A card party is to be held in I. O. O. F. hall on Thursday evening, April 12.

OFFICIAL BOARD TO MEET TONIGHT—

The official board of the Dixon Woman's Club will hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry White on East Second street at 7:30 promptly this evening.

MISSION STUDY CLASS TO MEET FRIDAY—

The Mission Study class of St. Paul's Lutheran church will meet at the home of Mrs. W. W. Teschendorf Friday at 2:30. All ladies who are interested are invited to this meeting.

HOME AFTER TWO MONTHS' STAY WITH DAUGHTER—

Mrs. Fred Dimick is home from a two months' visit with her daughter, Mrs. Albert Jenks in Rogers Park.

A new money saver is the scarf and bag set which a well known designer advocates for wear with different costumes. Both are of silk in a neutral shade. Scarfs of tussore, with tussore covered envelope bags to match, promise to have a summer vogue.

Missionary Circle Held April Meeting

The Young People's Missionary Circle of the Grace Evangelical church held its April meeting at the Church on Monday evening. Following a very bounteous picnic supper the meeting was held. Miss Helen Johnson took charge of the program. After a song by all, the Scripture selections were read by the reader and prayers were offered by Wayne Hartman and Clarence Meyers. Special selections were given on the piano by Mildred Schrock, readings by Meriam Richard, and a vocal number by Irene Gagster which were appreciated by all. The lesson study dealing with the first chapter of the new book entitled "New Paths for Old Purposes" was considered by Clinton Crews. After the singing of another song the business session was presided over by the president, Mildred Schrock. Plans of the varied program to be given Conference Sunday evening, April 22nd, were discussed. Twenty-nine members and friends enjoyed the fellowship. The meeting closed with all repeating the Lord's Prayer.

W.R.C. Held Pleasant Meeting Monday Eve.

Dixon Woman's Relief Corps, No. 218, auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic held its regular meeting Monday evening in Grand Army hall. The business of the Corps was transacted. Many members were reported ill. Grand Army Day will be observed Wednesday, April 11. There will be a picnic supper at 6:00 and those attending supper will please bring their own dishes. Any G. A. R. members desiring transportation will please notify Mrs. Lottie Horton.

Mrs. Lester Street, chairman of the committee for the month of March, gave a very favorable report showing a neat sum realized from the card party and lecture. Mrs. Etta Demarest also reported a goodly amount made from the doughnut sale. We hope to have a good attendance Wednesday evening. A very good program will be given.

D. A. R. Meeting on Saturday of Interest

The Daughters of American Revolution met with the Misses Decker Saturday, with Mrs. A. J. Lockett assisting hostess. The day was very unpleasing, but the Chapter was well represented. The Chapter was favored with two piano solos by Miss Dorothy Atkins which were greatly enjoyed. Mrs. A. H. Nichols and Mrs. Collins Dyrant gave very interesting reports of the State Convention in Bloomington in March. Miss Jennie Laing read a history of the life of Thomas Jefferson whose birthday occurs April 13; also of Monticello, the home of Thomas Jefferson. It was most interesting and profitable.

During the social hour the hostess served refreshments. The Chapter adjourned to meet with Mrs. Woodburn May 6. At this meeting the annual election of officers will be held.

REBEKAHS TO HOLD SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION—

A school of instruction for Minnie Bell Rebekah Lodge, No. 423, will be held Friday evening, April 13, in I. O. O. F. hall, preceded by a picnic supper at 6:30 to which all members are invited. Mrs. C. A. Robbins, President of the Rebekah State Assembly urges a good attendance from Dixon and vicinity.

A card party is to be held in I. O. O. F. hall on Thursday evening, April 12.

OFFICIAL BOARD TO MEET TONIGHT—

The official board of the Dixon Woman's Club will hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry White on East Second street at 7:30 promptly this evening.

MISSION STUDY CLASS TO MEET FRIDAY—

The Mission Study class of St. Paul's Lutheran church will meet at the home of Mrs. W. W. Teschendorf Friday at 2:30. All ladies who are interested are invited to this meeting.

Dr. Adler Says Not 'Such Glorious Victory'

Chicago, Ill.—(AP)—A new and unflattering portrait of the "new woman" who has "sacrificed her spiritual supremacy for legal rights" is drawn by Dr. Henry I. Adler, medical author of Chicago, writing in the forthcoming April issue of the state published Welfare Magazine.

"Her glorious victory," writes Dr. Adler, "is not such a great triumph as it is actually portrayed. The modern belief that the present lot of women is a great evolutionary triumph over her olden time sister may be dissipated."

While it is true, said Dr. Adler, that the old time woman did not have legal rights, nor intellectual education comparable to the modern woman, "she was endowed with some other power stronger than man made laws, a power which made her life sweeter, nobler and more poetic than the life of the modern woman."

Even though the women of another day were not given legal rights, he declared, they ruled, through men. "And the medieval woman," he continued, "enjoyed a greater splendor, adoration and contentment from the unwritten-law of her spiritual reign than the present day economically independent woman. The things for which men surrender wealth and life are not material, but spiritual."

Dr. Adler calls the "new woman" a product of commercialism, declaring that she ushered in an era of "fads and fashions" which are no more than the out croppings of the "ape-like" instinct.

"The tailor's, butcher's and ditch digger's wives and daughters," he declared, "aim, think, act and look like millionaire's wives and daughters. They spend all their husband's earnings as well as their own in order to 'ritz' themselves up."

"The two and half millions of married women and the six millions of single women industriously employed in this country are surely not working for the love of their enslaving occupations, nor for the sake of their farcical economic independence, but rather on account of their newly acquired appetites for the upper group's comforts and luxuries, and the physical inability of men to gratify the gluttonous craving of this civilizationist instinct."

"The modern woman, impelled by this civilizationist instinct to follow devotedly every path and endeavor of the upper social coterie, has sacrificed every traditional ideal upon the altar of commercial aristocracy and is choking herself to death with cabarets, jazz, cocktails, and in decorous excitement, just as the upper social group are doing."

This tendency, believes Dr. Adler, "penetrated and broke through the natural barriers of distinctiveness between the sexes and precipitated a new panorama of sex similarity, the so-called 'flapper'."

"This new phenomena (the flapper)," said Dr. Adler, "drinks, smokes, and uses the same vulgar vocabulary as men do. She competes with him on every erotic market place of life. The expurgation from her soul of the finer distinctive sentiments and emotions made her go through a process of physical and mental metamorphosis which changed her distinctive feminine shape and figure, her voice, poise, gait and behavior to resemble that of man."

"Now, when the modern woman has reached the highest zenith of commercialized distinctiveness; when there are no more palpable differences between lewdness and decency, between killing a goose and killing a husband, do all these make the modern woman happier than her old fashioned sister?"

Women in Support of Forestry Week

Washington, D. C., April 9.—American Forest Week, one of the several special weeks observed by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, has been proclaimed by President Coolidge for April 22-28.

"Forest Week is the time when we give special heed to our great heritage of forests and rivers and mines," says Mrs. Francis E. Whitley of Webster City, Iowa, chairman of the division of forestry and natural scenery for the General Federation. "Asked how we may best conserve these resources the answer is the one oft repeated, chiefly by education and legislation."

"Two bills have claimed our attention during this session of Congress: The McNary Woodruff bill for the protection of watersheds of navigable streams and the McNary-McSweeney forest research bill. The General Federation has always consistently stood for such scientific research as this bill proposes. More clubs are studying forestry and conservation today than ever before and during Forest Week they will cooperate with schools, with patriotic and civic organizations, not only in planting trees and memorial avenues but in fixing public attention on the value and importance of trees and the obligation of every citizen to protect them."

National Garden Week, April 15-22, is another national week which the General Federation observes. Miss Vida Newsom of Columbus, Indiana, chairman, is asking clubs to form garden departments, consult and review garden books and magazines as club programs, including the Poetry of Gardening; schedule lectures on gardens. To give all possible assistance to schools, juvenile groups and civic groups by holding contests for flower and vegetable gardens, to distribute seeds and cuttings among young people; to send flowers to the sick and shut-ins and to arrange flower shows. Miss Newsom also asks clubs to add a tree to the Mary Sherman forest which club women are planting, to honor the president of the General Federation, Mrs. John D. Sherman, a lover of the outdoors and a nationally known worker in conservation projects.

Family Quarrel in Capital Brings Shot

Springfield, Ill., April 10.—(AP)—As a culmination of a series of family quarrels, Mrs. Frank Mazaski, 30, was in a local hospital suffering from a serious bullet wound, and her husband was in the Sangamon county jail, unable to furnish $7,000 bond on an assault charge.

Mrs. Mazaski declared that her husband shot her, which she denied, declaring that his wife seized a revolver and shot herself.

Mrs. Anna Tater, who was visiting at their home, a witness to the altercation, confirms Mazaski's story.

BEATEN? NO! VICTORIOUS!

By BRUCE CATTON.

He was a shabbily-dressed little man; swarthy, blackhaired, obviously of foreign birth. His hands were the cracked, dirt-stained hands of the unskilled laborer. It was easy to see that the two dimes he held in his fingers represented a fairly large sum to him.

So he took his time as he scanned the toys in the five-and-ten. He passed up the painted rubber balls, the jumping jacks and the glass telephones that held candy, without a second glance. The mouth organs and popguns likewise failed to interest him. But the tray of tiny, castiron autos held his attention.

At length he selected two—a red motor bus and a blue roadster. He gave the salesgirl his two dimes with care, as if he were afraid he might drop them and lose them under the feet of the swirling, impatient crowd about him. And as the girl took the toys to put them in a paper bag he leaned forward and, with the suggestion of an apologetic smile, asked her: "Could you tie a colored string around it. It'll be a birthday present."

And, as the shabby little man stood waiting for his package, tied in the gay red string, there was a look on his face that somehow made at least one onlooker feel that life had dropped a rare, revealing hint. The man was not just a poorly-paid working man, squeezing his purse to provide two dimes for a pathetic little gift for some chubby youngster at home. He was a symbol; a manifestation, mean yet heroic, of that quality in humanity which provides eternal proof of man's fitness for a better world.

There was love there, and kindness, and a patient acceptance of a hard destiny. The man plainly had not had an easy time of it. Plainly he had been hungry, had known the tragedy of poverty at close range. The lines of his face held no expression of hope. Yet, in spite of all of these things, there was no sign of discouragement or surrender. This submerged fragment of humanity knew he could never rise; yet he was not quite beaten. Had the world trodden on him and broken him? Very well; here was a package tied with red string for an answer. The little boy at home would have a birthday, regardless.

Life drops hints like that now and then. They come unexpectedly, and they reveal much. They put to shame all our philosophizing, all our speculation. We see, and in a flash we know. We have our moment of vision, and we see that we are, after all, rather fine; that there is something in us that will endure after the earth has cooled to a lonely, desolate cinder, spinning in empty space.

"Could you tie a colored string around it? It'll be a birthday present."

MELLON AND COUZENS.

We do wish Senator Couzens and Secretary Mellon wouldn't fight so. Both are very wealthy men. Anatole France remarked that in a democracy wealth is the only thing that is sacred. If we are to revere wealth as we should, we must never admit that either of these men could be wrong.

Can't Secretary Mellon find a poorer senator to tilt with? Or can't Senator Couzens attack some Cabinet minister who only has a paltry million or so? This spectacle is heart-rending.

Surely, $100,000,000 can't be wrong. Yet one or another of these men must be mistaken. It's all very confusing to one who wants to retain the proper reverence for men of great wealth.

Footprints of a dinosaur have been found in Connecticut. But maybe it was only a policeman out on the beach for his day off.

Evidently the office boy is of Mormon descent. Every year, about the time the baseball season opens, he has to take a couple of days off to help bury his grandmothers.

It's not hard to understand how some flappers can make their faces ugly; the mystery is how they can stand before a mirror and do it.

The town of Aiken, South Carolina, has an ax club, and the other day prizes were offered for grandmothers who were most proficient with the tool. It's never too late to rid yourself of a husband.

The Kansas City mother who actually flogged her daughter and the daughter have been offered a vaudeville contract at $1000 a week. Maybe this would help revive an ancient art.

A farmer owns a stone wall on the edge of Baldonnel airfield in Ireland. He has to tear this wall down every time a transatlantic plane hops off, and for this he collects 70 pounds sterling, rebuilding the wall as soon as the flyers have gone. Remember the mudpuddle in front of the farmer's house?

There are to be twice as many early strawberries from Louisiana this year as there were in 1927. And down in Washington they seem to be cultivating quite a raspberry crop, too.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

The freight train soon pulled out of sight, and little Clowny Tinymite said, "Well, what shall we do, now that the meat men all have gone? Nearby's a very dandy tree. Come on, why don't you follow me, and we will flop and have a snooze from night time until dawn."

The butcher, who stood near at hand, exclaimed, "That plan of yours is grand. It's almost night and it is best that all of you get rest. It's pretty warm. 'Twill be all right to sleep out in the air tonight. I guess you won't be chilly if you do not get undressed."

So, right up to the tree they ran. "Say, can I sleep? You bet I can," yelled Copy as he sprawled, and settled comfy on the ground. The others promptly did the same, and then the dark of night came. The butcher acted as a guard over them as they slept sound.

When morning came the bunch awoke. The butcher cried, "Well, here's a joke. Your cookie cart and rabbit have come back to us again. And now we'll keep them. Might as well, 'cause we may need them. Who can tell? When you are in a hurry carts are handy, now and then."

The Tinymites started quite a fuss. "We're glad that you come back to us," said Scouty, as he stroked the little rabbit on the head. Then Copy startled all the crowd, 'cause he began to yell out loud, "Why, here come two wee pork chops. They're in tears," is what he said.

The pork chops came right up and said, "Oh, we'll be spanked and put to bed." The Tinymites tried to stop their tears, but this was quite in vain. The butcher then said, "Tell us, do! What is the matter with you two?" "Oh, we were late," one chop replied, "and we have missed our train."

(The Tinymites help the pork chops in the next story.)

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

Dearest Mom:

At last I've had tea in a studio. It was thrilling. And Mabel's artist friend is simply divine. Very thin and dark and he wore a mandarin robe instead of a smock.

The room itself was a huge place that looked like a barn loft to me and the rafters and beams were thick with dust, but the floor was almost entirely covered with a rich black rug that looked clean enough. The chairs and divans were surprisingly comfortable for a workshop. You'd think it was a salon or a club. From what Mabel said I surmise that it is a favorite rendezvous for fashionable women at tea time.

Several women whose pictures are frequently on the society pages of the papers came in but none of them stayed for more than a sip of tea and a word with Michello. I think they were snobbish about finding outsiders there.

Michello didn't seem to mind whether they stayed or not and treated them very coolly. He has a distant, dreamy air and you don't know if he's with you or not when you're in his presence. It's perfectly fascinating, but a little uncomfortable, and I told Florence we ought to go after we'd been there about fifteen minutes. But he wouldn't let us leave. He seemed to enjoy talking to Florence particularly. It's the first time a man ever overlooked me to talk to her and I wouldn't care if it were an ordinary man but Michello's a dream. The women here are made about him and they say there are a lot of divorces on his pallet.

Well, he certainly knows how to serve tea. We had it in tall thin glasses with rum, ginger, or preserved pineapple. Or strawberry, whichever we preferred. Guess what I took.

There wasn't much color in the studio except where it was used for accept, as Mabel said. It didn't look bare, though, but spacious and restful. There was one whole wall with absolutely nothing resting against it. His thinking wall, Michello told Florence. Seems he sits and stares at its blankness until he sees pictures on it. I imagine he'd find it pretty hot if a parade of his past ever got started on it, judging from the stories I've heard.

He has invited Florence to have dinner with him tomorrow. I'm a little uneasy about her going, but of course it's her own affair. She would think I was jealous if I interfered.

Devotedly,

MARYE.

Alibi, "These Do Not Count" Has Gone Into Into Discard

BY BRIAN BELL (AP Sports Writer)

The alibi "These don't count," has gone into the discard with last year's major league uniforms the club's have worn in their spring junkets through the south and west and the time has come to think of serious things.

Everything Washington and Boston do today will be used against them and the other fourteen clubs of the two leagues place themselves in a responsible position tomorrow.

President Coolidge will start the curtain with no chance that he will be battered from the mound for he has to throw but one ball and the fireworks can start.

Senators Crippled. The Senators, beset by injuries, may need all the presidential help they can get in their advanced opening. Their opponents, the Boston Red Sox, have everything to gain and nothing to lose. Even their friends have picked them to finish far down in the second division. Washington, on the other hand has received some championship support.

As the long grind starts tomorrow for all the National League outfits and six of the American League standard bearers, managers are impressing upon their athletes the advantage of a flying start.

Last season the Athletics played the first part of the schedule for fun and the rest of the race in a vain effort to get even. As was the case last year, Connie Mack's Philadelphiaans meet the champion New York Yankees at the gun.

The Yankees, who have found the going hard in their spring games, have advised their friends to "wait until the season starts." The friends have waited and the champions must now put up or shut up.

Connie Mack offers an old baseball act in a new setting when he presents Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker on the same club.

Card Pitchers Good. Pittsburgh, defending its National League title is sure to see plenty of pitching in its opening series. The Cardinals may have their faults but pitching is not one of them.

More than a baseball game will be the National League opening in New York where the Giants and Braves clash. The two clubs are filled with players who have worn the colors of both. Rogers Hornsby, Eddie Farrell, Kent Greenfield and Zach Taylor will try to show McGraw that he was wrong while Larry Benton and Frank Hogan, the probable New York battery, came to New York from Boston.

Cleveland and Chicago, longer on pitching than in any other department of play, are fairly evenly matched in the basis of their training records and the early pitching may reduce the hitting to a minimum.

The Chicago Cubs at Cincinnati will try their hardest to get away to a flying start in what they regard as a pennant year.

Detroit and St. Louis, playing this year at Detroit, will hope that the Michigan weather is more reasonable than the Missouri elements encountered last year when it seemed for a time that the season could not be opened within a week of the scheduled start. Only one game was played in the first series of 1927 and that failed to reach a decision.

With Brooklyn's great pitching staff only waiting to see the whites of the Phillies' eyes before they shoot, Burt Shotton's batsmen will be given an early initiation.

Hoppe Given First Defeat Last Eve

Chicago, April 10.—(AP)—Another upset has deadlocked the leadership in the national three cushion billiard tournament.

The upset came last night when Willie Hoppe of New York lost his first match in five starts to 26 year old Earl Lookabaugh of Chicago, 50 to 30, in 53 innings, the defeat placed him into a tie for first with John Layton of St. Louis.

Converting Hoppe's numerous safety shots into points and playing a spectacular game, Lookabaugh led all the way. He is considered out of the championship, however, as he has lost three of the six matches he has played.

Gus Copulos of Detroit advanced to third place last night by defeating Allen Hall of St. Louis, 50 to 45, in 61 innings. The defeat shoved Hall from a tie for third place to a tie with the defending champion Reisel of Philadelphia for fourth position.

Hoppe's defeat raised the hopes of Reisel to defend successfully his title. With two defeats and three victories, he will play Hall in the feature match tonight.

Manila Suburb DoomsFlimsy Nipa Houses

Manila, P. I.—(AP)—A devastating fire among the nipa palm, bamboo and rattan houses of Pasay, suburb of Manila, has caused the banishment of the flimsy thatched dwellings. The municipal council has acted to prevent reconstruction of the inflammable houses, and the district is being rebuilt with more substantial houses, which while not fire-proof will not be as dangerous.

Hundreds of residents of the devastated district are being cared for at a refugee camp established by the government and the Red Cross. Almost 700 houses were consumed in an hour and 2,500 persons were made homeless.

In outlawing the nipa house, the council had doomed a type of dwelling which has been characteristic of this part of the Orient for centuries. It is cool and healthful in many ways but offers no resistance to fire.

Paris Lawyers BoastGuaranteed Divorces

Paris.—(AP)—Despite the tightening up of court procedure where Americans demand divorce in Paris courts, one firm of lawyers here has advertised a special price for transatlantic separations.

Five hundred dollars is the flat charge, with "all requirements met."

Reputable American lawyers in Paris have hastened to disavow the firm, but its advertisement has appeared in a number of newspapers. Authorities at the law courts sniffed at the pretensions of the law firm and pointed to recent decisions to show that American divorces cannot be guaranteed, even by the ministry of justice.

Ide Files Protest

Springfield, Ill., April 9.—(AP)—Roy Ide, director of the state Department of Welfare, today entered a protest against the passage by Congress of an amendment tacked on the Agricultural Appropriation bill. The amendment provides that no indemnity shall be paid by the government on cattle reacting to tuberculosis tests in states where there is an arbitrary maximum indemnity.

Mr. Ide telegraphed U. S. Senator Charles S. Deneen asking him to use his influence to have the amendment knocked off the bill. It is now being considered by a joint committee of the national Senate and House. Passage of the amendment, Mr. Ide said, would stop payment of all government tuberculosis indemnity payments in Illinois.

A large type of war vessel of the sailing days, heavily armed, and corresponding to the modern cruiser, was called a frigate.

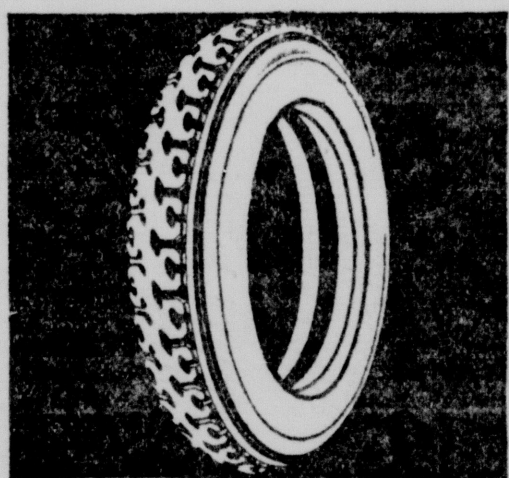

FREE

with every

Michelin Tire!

extra mileage

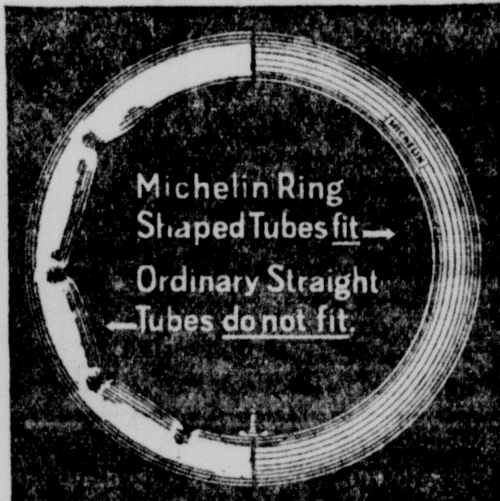

Records covering millions of miles show that Michelins give 36% more miles than the average tire.

That means that the Michelin user gets 4000 to 5000 miles extra out of every tire.

But he doesn't pay anything for this extra mileage. Unlike other tire manufacturers, Michelin specializes in making one quality only—the best; and consequently Michelin can produce the best tires more economically.

At all times you can get Michelins without paying any more for them than for standard tires.

And right now you can actually get Michelins for less, because while this sale lasts, you get a genuine Michelin Red Ring-Shaped Tube free with every Michelin Casing.

The best of all Tubes

Michelin Tubes are accepted everywhere as the best of all tubes.

They are made ring-shaped in the shape of the casing, whereas the ordinary tube is simply a piece of straight tubing cemented at the ends. Hence Michelin Tubes fit better, as illustrated above.

When the 5000 best-rated tire dealers in the United States were asked to vote for the best tube, the Michelin Tube received many more votes than any other make.

In New York City, where competition is particularly keen, over 25% of all the tubes sold are Michelins.

Rubber chemists everywhere use the Michelin Tube as the standard by which to judge the life and durability of rubber products.

NOW is the time to buy the tires you will need during the next six months. They won't deteriorate. And you probably won't have another chance to buy so much tire mileage and satisfaction so reasonably as during this sale.

ROCHELLE NEWS

Rochelle—Rochelle Masons were host to 250 Sir Knights and their ladies from Sycamore Commandery Knights Templar for the annual Easter service. The Sir Knights and their ladies formed at the Masonic Temple at 10:30 and marched south through the business section to Lincoln Highway, thence west to Sixth street and north to the Presbyterian church where the services were held. The pastor, Rev. Frank Campbell, preached the sermon. The church was filled to capacity.

Following the service the line reformed and the parade moved to the Temple where dinner was served by Salome Chapter Eastern Star.

The program for the afternoon was:

Mr. and Mrs. Harlod Rowland, of Rochelle, and Mr. Rowland's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Rowland of Dixon, left Sunday for Marion, O., where they will attend the wedding of Charles Rowland and Miss Louise Frank, of Marion. The ceremony will be an event of April 10th. The groom is a son of and Mrs. A. A. Rowland and a brother of Harold Rowland.

John Fraser, salesman for the Gulf Oil Co., and well known to a number of garage owners in this section of the community, died Thursday afternoon at the Lincoln Hospital from injuries received when his Ford coupe overturned about two miles west of Malta on Monday afternoon. His parents, who reside in Kentucky, arrived at the hospital Wednesday but their son was so near death when they arrived that he was unable to recognize them. The salesman had passed a car and turned back on the highway in front of the car so quickly that his coupe overturned. He was not thought to have been seriously injured when admitted to the hospital. Later investigation proved that his injuries were of an internal nature. A woman companion, an Oak Park trained nurse, escaped with minor injuries.

Samuel Felden, 18 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Felden of Cedar Rapids, Ia., was killed about Friday noon when the family car skidded on the wet pavement between DeKalb and Malta, the child suffering a broken neck. The family consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Felden, a daughter and the baby had been in Chicago for a few days and were returning to their home at Cedar Rapids, Ia. None of the occupants were thrown out of the car and it is believed the baby was thrown from the mother's arms and against the side of the car in such a manner as to break his neck. The other occupants of the car were severely shaken up and bruised but their injuries were slight. Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Rosenberg and Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Wing, of Chicago, were over Easter guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Rosenberg.

Lindbergh Egged from Air at Easter Picnic

Los Angeles, April 9—(AP)—The Examiner says Col. Charles Lindbergh was treated to an unique barbecue picnic near Carpinteria yesterday when Easter eggs—two dozen uncooked ones—were delivered as bombs from the air.

Lindbergh, as well as the other guests scrambled—for safety.

The trans-Atlantic flier as well as several other persons were guests of Joel Remington Pythian at the barbecue near the Pythian estate. Soon after the picnic began two of the guests were seen in close conversation and both left soon afterward for an air field. After purchasing two dozen eggs, they chartered a plane and flew over the picnic scene.

Lindbergh, who is vacationing in Santa Barbara, appeared to enjoy the Easter egging.

Panama was formerly a state of Columbia.

U. S. TREASURER QUILTS

Washington, April 9—(AP)—Frank White, Treasurer of the United States, today presented his resignation to President Coolidge to become president of the Southern Mortgage Guaranty Corporation of Chattanooga, Tenn. The resignation will become effective on May 1.

Mr. White said today. His successor has not yet been chosen. Mr. White came to Washington from North Dakota, where he had engaged in banking and insurance business.

Rival Aviatrices Can't Make Flights

London, April 10—(AP)—Two women flying rivals today apparently faced defeat in attempts to make flights between London and Cape Town, South Africa.

An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Cape Town said that Lady Mary Bailey, en route to Cape Town had crashed while attempting to land at Tabora, Tanganyika. Her plane was badly wrecked but she escaped injury. A Cairo dispatch to the Daily Mail said that Lady Heath, the former Mrs. Elliott Lynn, flying rival to Lady Bailey, had been prevented from continuing her flight to London from Cape Town by British authorities.

Her plane was locked in the army shed at Heliopolis airdrome, five miles from Cairo, and she was refused permission to fly over the Mediterranean unaccompanied. No escort was available.

HEALTH DIET ADVICE

By Dr. Frank McCoy
The Fast Way to Health

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Use this service in connection with treatment and advice of your personal physician.)

Dr. McCoy will gladly answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Evening Telegraph. Enclose stamped, addressed, large envelope for reply.

POSITIVE ADVICE FOR CHILDREN

All children are thrilled by fairy stories, and I see no harm in telling these tales to them, but one must not make the mistake of trying to convince the child that these myths are true. Children enjoy stories just as much when they know they are fairy stories and could not really happen.

If you start trying to convince your child that the Santa Claus myth is true, he will probably grow up doubting you about every other story you tell him.

As he is growing up, if you really believe that spinach is good for him, the next some of it yourself, and set him a good example. First of all, really believe what you tell him, and be willing to PRACTICE WHAT YOU PREACH!

Many a clove eater, with his cellar full of liquor, will spend hours telling his son about the evils of drinking, and the truth is, he really does not believe that alcohol is so injurious or he could not use it himself, but exaggerates to his son and tells him a lie he has often heard or read about.

Many a man, with his pockets full of stogies, will discourse at length with his son or daughter upon the bad effects of smoking. When the truth is, he has smoked practically all his life and has perhaps never felt any bad effects from it. Why, then, should he misrepresent the actual truths to his children?

The interests of children are the interest of every man, and if liquor, candy, and cigarettes are bad for the child they are also bad for the adult. Be careful when you speak to your child, that you are telling the truth, and remember that children have more need of models than of critics.

Do not be afraid of spoiling your child by making him too happy, since happiness is the atmosphere in which all good effects grow, and no harm can come from it if he is buoyant with joy every moment of his waking hours.

If the habit of happiness is cultivated during childhood, it will stay with him all during his life.

However, a sure way to make your child miserable is to satisfy all his demands. Selfishness will increase by too much gratification, and the impossibility of satisfying every one of his wishes will someday oblige you to stop short, but perhaps after he has already become headstrong.

Children dislike the idea of being idle, and it is your duty as a parent to direct them in their study and play every hour of the day. Do this by positive direction, rather than negative.

If you wish your child to play in his own yard, do not give him the bad suggestion that he "must not" play in the yard next door. Make his own yard attractive to him, and teach him by positive suggestion what you want him to do. Children have a very poor understanding of the word "not," but a good conception of such words as "do this" and "do that."

Do not threaten them with some terrible punishment if they disobey you. If punishment seems necessary or desirable, be sure to promise them the kind of punishment which you can execute without injuring them.

The training of your child is a profession, and no lies nor exaggeration should be necessary in telling the truths about life.

ALBUMIN IN THE URINE

Those who receive reports that albumin has been found in the urine are usually frightened at the report, and the words "Bright's Disease" or "Nephritis" immediately come into their minds. They look up statistics and find how many people die each year of Bright's Disease or some other kidney trouble, and are scared half into the grave by these reports.

While albumin is usually found in chronic interstitial nephritis, it is also true that a certain percentage of cases die of this disorder without once having shown albumin in the urine test. On the other hand, carrying amounts of albumin may be found in the urine without it being any indication whatsoever of Bright's Disease.

The blood serum contains two proteins, albumin and globulin, either of which may appear in the urine, the amount varying in different conditions. The presence of albumin in the urine, at one time regarded as indicative of nephritis, is now recognized as occurring under many circumstances without the existence of any serious organic change in the kidneys.

In normal health the urine only contains water, salts, and eliminated bodily toxins. When albumin does appear, it may be simply due to a sloughing off of the skin cells which line the kidneys. When the same thing occurs on the scalp it is called dandruff. If this sloughing off continues over a long period of time it may somewhat impair the secretive functions of the kidney membranes.

Albumin is usually thrown out in the urine after great physical exertion, such as after a hard football game or wrestling match. It may appear occasionally after the ingestion of food rich in protein. Standing in cold water a long time has been found to produce urinary albumin. Nervous children of neurotic parents will often show traces of albumin in the urine. With some patients albumin may be absent in the morning and present only at the end of a hard day's work.

When albumin is found in the urine during pregnancy, it is not necessarily a serious condition, and may come and go during the entire period of gestation. The albumin thrown out in the urine during fevers usually disappears with the cessation of the fever.

It has often been pointed out that the appearance of a slight amount of albumin in the urine of a man over fifty may be an advantage, as the man is made to realize, perhaps for the first time, that he has been living carelessly. This may be true if he is just frightened enough to correct bad habits of living, and not scared so much as to give up all hope, write out his will, and wait for the undertaker.

Life insurance doctors are instructed to reject all cases in which albumin appears in the urine, but from my observation I am sure they are too cautious about this and not careful enough to get the opinions of several physicians who would be allowed to consider the importance of the relationship between high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, and heart lesions, in connection with the appearance of the albumin.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: Mrs. H. asks: "Will you kindly advise me what causes yawning? I yawn continually all day, although I get plenty of rest. Would this condition be from weakness?"

ANSWER: Yawning is caused from oxygen starvation. If you will take deep breathing exercises each morning and, at first, occasionally through the day, you will supply your lungs with enough oxygen with which you can satisfy the bodily needs.

QUESTION: M. J. J. asks: "Are Graham crackers with milk and orange juice a good combination for breakfast?"

ANSWER: Milk and orange juice is a good combination for breakfast, or to be taken in place of any other meal of the day; but Graham crackers or other starchy foods should not be used with this orange-milk combination.

QUESTION: Grateful Reader asks: "Is it possible for pus to enter the blood stream, and what would be the results if it did?"

ANSWER: It is possible for pus to enter the blood stream, but usually the lymphatic circulation takes care of pus, which is composed of toxic material along with the white blood cells. Pus in the blood cannot usually travel very far, as the lymphatics save the patient's life by taking the toxins and white cells away and rendering the toxins less dangerous.

QUESTION: K. L. L. asks: "What is best, gas or novocaine for pulling teeth?"

ANSWER: Whether a local or general anesthetic is used by your dentist depends entirely upon the condition of your health, the teeth to be extracted, and many other factors which your dentist alone can decide.

QUESTION: Ignorant asks: "Are dyspepsia and acidosis caused by the same conditions? May both be banished by the same diet?"

ANSWER: Any kind of dyspepsia may be caused by the same things which cause acidosis. Acid dyspepsia means poor digestion due to over-acidity of the stomach. A well balanced diet will correct any kind of dyspepsia or acidosis.

QUESTION: Mrs. J. K. L. asks: "Is the use of soda in food harmful, such as putting it into tomatoes while cooking?"

ANSWER: I do not believe there is any harm in killing food acids with soda, except that the fruit acids have a value in stimulating digestion and this help is lost if the soda is used.

QUESTION: Smokey writes: "I have a very bad pain in my right arm when I tense the muscles. When I straighten out my arm it has a popping sound. Could baseball pitching have anything to do with this?"

ANSWER: You may have dislocated one of the ligaments in your arm while pitching ball. Professional baseball players often require frequent osteopathic manipulations or order to keep their arm ligaments in proper position.

QUESTION: F. E. P. asks: "Is Witch Hazel a good astringent to use on the face? Will it cause hair to grow? How often should it be used, and how applied?"

ANSWER: Witch Hazel is a soothing astringent to use on the face, and there is no reason to suppose that it will make hair grow. It may be used quite liberally each time after the face is washed.

Shocker to Return

New York, April 10—(AP)—Pitcher Urban Shocker's announcement that he is returning to the diamond is not creating visible enthusiasm from Boss Huggins of the Yankees.

"We don't care whether Shocker reports or not," Huggins said yesterday. "As a matter of fact I had not counted much on him this year. We have several young pitchers available and if Shocker doesn't care to report, it will be all the same with us."

Nevertheless Huggins appeared to be interested in the news that Shocker had been granted reinstatement by Commissioner Landis. Shocker won 13 games and lost 6 with the world champions last season.

Read the Telegraph thoroughly and give us your honest opinion. Is it not chock full of local, county, state and national news?

CO-OPS' GROWTH THROUGH NATION NOW PHENOMENAL

The Federal Department of Agriculture's Figures Out

Washington—(AP)—In round figures, the 10,803 cooperative marketing and purchasing associations listed by the department of agriculture transacted business in 1925 to the amount of $2,400,000,000.

The estimate is made by R. H. Elsworth, federal marketing economist, who has just completed a statistical review of the development of co-operative associations for the 10-year period, 1915 to 1925. His data reveals a phenomenal growth, the number of organizations increasing 50 per cent, their membership 315 per cent, and the amount of business handled 277 per cent.

Elsworth says the largest gain in number of associations was made in the five east north central states—Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin. The middle Atlantic states—New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania—were second. Largest gains in estimated membership were made by the east south central states.

Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi, with the west south central tier—Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas—second. Largest percentage gains in amount of business handled were made by the west and east south central groups; by the south Atlantic states—Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida; and by the New England states—Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

Of the 48 states, Minnesota leads in number of associations, having 128 per cent of the total number. Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas follow in the order named.

Minnesota also had the largest volume of business in 1925, her 1383 associations handling $223,980,000. California was second with $223,960,000 for her 350 associations. Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Ohio, New York and Kansas followed in the order named, these eight states handling 51 per cent of the total cooperative business.

Nearly one-third of the total business in 1925 was handled by 3338 grain marketing associations, more than one-fifth by dairy associations, and more than one-eighth by the live stock shipping associations.

Associations with headquarters in Minnesota reported a larger number of members than the associations in any other state. Those ranking next were Kentucky, Iowa and Missouri.

Total membership for the United States is placed at 2,700,000, with many farmers belonging to as many as four associations. The actual number served through cooperatives in 1925 is estimated to have been 1,800,000.

Gleanings of Farm News From About the State

(BY THE AP)

Galesburg—Legumes may be soil robbers instead of soil builders. L. Marchant, farm adviser of Knox county has warned members of the Knox county farm bureau.

"If legumes are not inoculated," he said, "their nitrogen supply as well as mineral requirements, must come from the soil. Since they are heavy feeders upon nitrogen as well as upon other plant food elements they may be the most effective miners of soil fertility of any crop grown on the farm. Instead of serving as a place for these nitrogen fixing bacteria to locate they function as a drain, absorbing and carrying off the already limited supply of soil nitrogen."

"If plants from several parts of the field show abundant nodules, development, obviously there is no need for further inoculation. Otherwise always inoculate your seed, whether clover, alfalfa, or soy beans are grown."

Amboy—Good seed corn will be like a good man, "hard to find" this year, C. A. Yale, farm adviser of Lee County advises.

In selecting seed corn there are five main points to be considered, he declares. They are:

1. Weight. A seed ear should be heavy for its size, matured and solid.
2. Luster. Kernels of a good seed ear will show a bright polished appearance, indicating a predominance of horny starch and is nearly transparent. A poor ear for seed has a dull color and appears lifeless.
3. Shanks. The shanks should be free from any discoloration and should break off clean and bright. An ear with shredded conditions should be discarded.
4. Kernels. The kernels should be of a good depth and should be thick and carry this thickness to the top. They should pull out clean from the cob.

5. Tips. Ears having tips that show exposure or injury should be discarded as these kernels are susceptible to diseases even though they will grow.

The Weather Bureau of the U. S. Department of Agriculture has reported that there is no evidence at this time that there will be any disastrous floods in the Mississippi river system this year. The river and floods division which makes a very careful study of the influences which bring about floods finds that there is now no condition prevailing which may cause a flood of the disastrous nature that was experienced last year.

Velvet barley promises to replace all the old strains of barley and much of the oat crop in northern Illinois, a consensus of the opinion of farm advisers reveals.

It is a barley that has beards but no barbs and can be shocked with as much ease as oats. It has yielded about equal under field conditions with Odeur-brucker barley.

This barley was developed by the University of Minnesota by crossing Odeur-brucker and Black Barless barley. It was grown by the university for several years on the experiment stations and then put out in very limited quantities among farmers.

Urbana, Ill.—Discovery that an Oregon type of oats, reported immune from the destructive oats smut, may be adaptable to Illinois farm lands was announced today by the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. Tests showed the oats resistant to smut and at the same time to be a higher-yielding grain.

The variety, known as "Markton," gives promise of being a valuable one for farmers of this state.

Results of the tests are considered conclusive enough to warrant the practice of seed corn treatment being recommended to farmers.

Yields from Illinois' three hundred million dollar corn crop are now cut an estimated 15 per cent because of diseased and disease-susceptible seed. No seed corn of which there is enough for farm use is entirely free from disease.

Even good seed corn yielded more following treatment with the chemicals. This increase, though slight, was practically all clear profit because cost of the treatment was so low. Corn, for instance, that was carefully selected from the standpoint of physical appearance and the further culled on the basis of germination tests yielded only six-tenths of a bushel an acre more as a result of seed treatment.

Of the many chemicals used thus far in the seed treatment tests, the three superior ones have been Bayer Dust, Improved Semesan, Jr., and S. F. A. No. 225. The first of these is a nitrophenol-mercury compound, while the other two are cresol-mercury compounds.

All are of the dust form, the chemicals being applied at the rate of 2 ounces a bushel of seed. Mixing is thorough so that it cannot be done with a shovel is required, barrel churn or regular mixing machine must be used.

Seed treatments are no panacea for all the many corn diseases, the college warned. If farmers are to develop and keep up disease resistance in their seed corn, they must continue to practice field selection of seed ears from healthy plants and the careful culling of these ears after they have been cured, even though seed treatment is used, it was pointed out.

Another sign of improved farm conditions is raising of the farm price level from 135 to 137 per cent of the pre-war level from February 15 to March 15. The 137 index is 11 points higher than the index of March 1926.

At various government testing stations throughout the country there are nearly 200,000 cattle from more than 2,000,000 herds under tuberculosis tests. More than 155,000 herds, containing more than two million cattle, have been tested by this Department of Agriculture division and have been found free from tuberculosis.

Thirty per cent of farm tenants in the Central States are related to the landlords, according to the Department of Agriculture. This fact makes for better farming, the department points out, as the tenant has an interest in the farm equal to the landlord, which is sometimes not the case where the tenant is not related.

Weather and the boll weevil control the production of cotton arsenate. Last year, for instance, the weevils were active, thanks to the weather. Consequently 18,000,000 pounds of that chemical were manufactured to combat the weevil. In 1926 the pest was also active, but the surplus carried over from 1925, a lean year for the weevil, was used and only 5,000,000 pounds of the chemical were made up.

These dates have been selected by the American Country Life Association for its annual national convention. To take advantage of the opportunity to hear nationally known speakers who will address the gathering, several state bodies have also signified their intention of holding their state conventions here at the same time.

The program, while now tentative, will be devoted to a special consideration of the actual developments and projects in relating urban and rural groups to each other. There will be descriptions of what has been done by social agencies, business groups, churches and other organizations.

Speakers and leaders for various groups now decided upon include: H. W. Mumford, dean of the University college of agriculture; J. E. Hill, state supervisor for vocational training in agriculture; K. L. Butterfield, president of the Country Life Association; Dr. Hazel Kyrk of the University of Chicago; Dr. J. S. Galpin of the U. S. Department of Agriculture; David Kinley, president of the University; Kim Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural Association; Lorado Taft, Illinois sculptor; Zona Gale, novelist; and others.

CHEMICAL SEED TREATMENT AID TO CORN GROWTH

College of Agriculture Gives Reports on Experiments

Urbana, Ill.—(AP)—Seed treatments with chemicals at a cost of only three cents an acre will control certain of the seed-borne root diseases and thus save at least part of the heavy toll now being taken in Illinois corn fields by diseased and disease-susceptible seed.

This possibility is announced by the agronomy department of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois after extensive tests made in the past several years in cooperation with the federal department of agriculture.

Results of the tests are considered conclusive enough to warrant the practice of seed corn treatment being recommended to farmers.

Yields from Illinois' three hundred million dollar corn crop are now cut an estimated 15 per cent because of diseased and disease-susceptible seed. No seed corn of which there is enough for farm use is entirely free from disease.

Even good seed corn yielded more following treatment with the chemicals. This increase, though slight, was practically all clear profit because cost of the treatment was so low. Corn, for instance, that was carefully selected from the standpoint of physical appearance and the further culled on the basis of germination tests yielded only six-tenths of a bushel an acre more as a result of seed treatment.

Of the many chemicals used thus far in the seed treatment tests, the three superior ones have been Bayer Dust, Improved Semesan, Jr., and S. F. A. No. 225. The first of these is a nitrophenol-mercury compound, while the other two are cresol-mercury compounds.

All are of the dust form, the chemicals being applied at the rate of 2 ounces a bushel of seed. Mixing is thorough so that it cannot be done with a shovel is required, barrel churn or regular mixing machine must be used.

Seed treatments are no panacea for all the many corn diseases, the college warned. If farmers are to develop and keep up disease resistance in their seed corn, they must continue to practice field selection of seed ears from healthy plants and the careful culling of these ears after they have been cured, even though seed treatment is used, it was pointed out.

Corn Supplies Now Smallest Since '20

Urbana, Ill., April 10—(AP)—Corn supplies available at the end of the winter season were the second smallest since 1920 and about 100 million bushels, or 10 per cent, less than the average for the past ten years, Dr. L. J. Norton, of the agricultural economics division, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, has reported.

"However," he said, "history has shown that the years when farm supplies of corn at the end of the winter season were relatively small have not been the years when large advances took place in summer corn prices."

"Small supplies perhaps encourage economies in the use of corn and this in turn reduces the demand. A more probable explanation is that years when supplies are low are typically years of small crops. Two short corn crops rarely come in succession. Hence during years when supplies are short in March the summer price of corn frequently is held down by favorable prospects for the new crop."

A study of price changes during the past 30 years shows that the average increase in the Chicago price of No. 3 yellow corn, calculated in a way to avoid the influence either of large increases or decreases, was six cents a bushel from March to July during years of small March supplies as compared to ten cents a bushel during years when the stocks at the end of the winter season were large. The average increase from March to September was four cents a bushel during years of small stocks compared to twelve cents a bushel during years of large stocks.

Valuable Hints for Farmers and Their Good Wives

Too rich a soil is not desirable for sweet potatoes. It has a tendency to develop the vines at the expense of the tubers. As a commercial crop the sweet potato is of large importance to Virginia, Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey, as well as in southern Illinois, southern Indiana and the cotton belt.

The early flowering strains of the chrysanthemum now make possible its cultivation in all except the most northern sections of the country. Crops usually are propagated from roots. The soil should be thoroughly enriched with well-rotted manure, for the flower is a gross feeder.

A sweet clover crop is of benefit on fields underlain by a firm sub-soil in that they strike down and help to break up the hard pan.

Sloughs and swales often produce heavy crops of reedy grass. Early cutting. When not actually swampy, these areas offer a chance for planting alsike clover and running out the coarse grass.

The outstanding reason for malnutrition among American children is bad food habits. Sometimes parents do not know food values but in any case, whether based on the child's "choosiness" or the parent's lack of information, bad food habits can be corrected only through education in what are the proper foods for children and how they can be trained to eat wholesome foods.

The Farm Week in Washington

BY FRANK I. WELLER

(Associated Press Farm Editor)

Washington—(AP)—Held up just as it was about to pass congress as an amendment to the agriculture appropriation bill, the Willis resolution, to deny federal aid to states that set up an arbitrary maximum compensation for the slaughter of tubercular cattle, is hanging in midair while a senate and house conference committee is being organized to discuss it.

Senator McNary of Oregon will head the senate committee of three, yet to be named, and Rep. L. J. Dickison, republican, Iowa, is expected to act as chairman of a similar group from the house.

The amendment was inspired by Hugh R. Fuller of Warren, Ohio, representing the Ohio Dairymen's Protective association which in the past has been prominently connected with injunctions and other litigation to prevent northern Ohio cities from enforcing ordinances requiring that all milk sold within their boundaries come from certified tuberculosis-free herds.

Intrusted to the late Sen. Frank B. Willis of Ohio, the amendment was placed before a sub-committee of the senate committee on appropriations.

NO LET UP NOW IN WAR ON CORN BORER IS PLEA

Fight Must Continue All Year and Into Spring of 1929

"There should be no let-up in effort this spring or this fall or next spring in carrying to the farmer corn-borer control methods," said C. B. Smith, chief of the Office of Cooperative Extension work, United States Department of Agriculture, at a conference of extension directors, extension leaders in corn-borer work, and extension editors from Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, New York, and Pennsylvania, held in Washington, D. C., April 2 and 3. "Corn-borer control," he said, "is a part of good farming. It is peculiarly our task—an extension task—to get this to the farmer. We have had a year's experience. We are better prepared than ever."

Each State gave a report of the corn-borer educational work carried on and outlined plans for future work. Although the extent to which compulsory clean-up will be enforced has not yet been fully determined, the extension forces will go ahead preparing the farmer to live with the corn borer and grow corn profitably.

A committee was appointed to outline plans for future educational work, and their report was unanimously adopted by the conference. This report stated that the conference believed the problem of corn-borer control to be important and urgent and that the farmers want the assistance of the extension forces in changing methods of corn production to provide control under farm conditions. Special emphasis was placed on the problem of producing corn at a profit under corn-borer conditions.

Those in attendance at the conference were: From Indiana, G. I. Christie, director of extension; L. E. Hoffman, extension leader in corn-borer work; T. R. Johnston, in charge of educational work; from Ohio, T. H. Parks, in charge of corn-borer educational work; D. S. Myer, extension district supervisor; J. R. Fleming, assistant editor; from Michigan, R. J. Baldwin, director of extension work; H. C. Rather, in charge of corn-borer educational work; and B. R. Proulx, in charge of corn-borer information; from Pennsylvania, H. E. Hodgkiss, professor of entomological extension; from New York, L. R. Simons, in charge of corn-borer educational work;

Weekly Review of Agriculture by Farmers Paper

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Prices of better grades of steers rallied 50 to 75 cents from the low point of ten days ago, followed by a slight setback at the close of the week, according to the weekly review of market conditions issued today by Prairie Farmer.

Light receipts and stronger shipping demand, based on improvement in dressed beef trade following the close of Lent were responsible. Weighty Nebraska steers reached a top of $15.10 at Chicago with best long yearlings at 14.35. Bulk of fed steers sold at 12 to 14. Stocker and feeder cattle prices have been moving virtually sidewise for the last five weeks.

Hog prices are still dragging, with Chicago average holding slightly above where it has been for nearly four months. Receipts have fallen off moderately in the last 10 days, but are still comparatively large. Domestic consumption of pork is on a considerably larger scale than a year ago and exports of hog products, particularly lard, are running ahead of last year's figures, but so much has accumulated in packers' hands as a result of heavy slaughter in the last three months that the supply situation remains burdensome.

The advance in lamb prices which carried the Chicago top to a new winter peak at $17.65 appears to have attracted a decided increase in the run, especially at Missouri river points.

Wool prices remain firm everywhere. The volume changing hands in domestic markets is not extensive. Wheat prices have advanced to the highest point of the season, partly under speculative demand stimulated by reports of damage to the new crop, both in the United States and Europe. Primary receipts of wheat have continued rather liberal. Exports are moderate, but mills are still grinding at a fairly high rate, so that market stocks are gradually being reduced.

The demand for corn has diminished in the last ten days as the result of the advance in prices for the better grades above the dollar level at Chicago. The arrival of the pasture season in southern states also may have been a factor. Export sales fell off following the spurt of activity reported a week or two ago. Primary receipts have dropped from the winter peak, but they remain much larger than at this time a year ago.

Out prices have been somewhat soft the last ten days. Demand for barley has also dropped off.

The demand for clover seed has increased somewhat as the supplies have been whittled down.

Supplies of hay at some markets are barely enough to equal trade demands and prices have been marked higher, particularly on top grades. Good clover hay is in demand for shipping south.

The egg market has been able to remain fairly steady during the past week, although receipts at the leading markets are increasing rapidly as production gets farther into the flush season. Buying for storage is not as extensive as a year ago. A premium has been paid during the past week for fancy large white eggs for the Easter trade.

An abundant supply of high grade butter at all markets brought about a sharp reduction in prices last week in the decline on 92 score creamery at Chicago amounting to 2½ cents a pound. Storage stocks are being depleted rapidly.

Neighborhood Talk

Cuts Price of Milk

Urbana, Ill.—(AP)—Neighborhood gossip in the spring will spoil a farmer's milk and cause a sizeable price cut in its market value. Dr. J. M. Brammon, assistant chief of dairy bacteriology at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, warned farmers today.

Delaying the cooling of freshly drawn milk no longer than is necessary to discuss the community news with a neighbor, he said, gives count-breed bacteria in the milk a chance to breed, and aided by a sudden spell of warm weather, they will multiply tremendously. The ultimate result, he said, that milk must be sold for a cut price or as a lowered grade, or is entirely spoiled.

USE THIS PROVED SEED CORN TREATMENT

Let Others Do the Experimenting!

You plant corn for profit—not for experiment.

BAYER DUST seed corn treatment makes corn growing more profitable. It is time-tried and field-proved. Four years of actual field use has proven its value.

BAYER DUST prevents rotting of seed in cold, wet weather; improves germination and stand; checks losses from seed-borne and soil-borne diseases; and increases yield from 3 to 10 bushels per acre.

FOLLOW the success of over 200,000 corn growers—use the proved seed corn treatment and plant for profit. Some untold treatment may be beneficial, but let your neighbors do the experimenting.

Tested by the U. S. Dept. of Agric. Iowa Experiment Station Illinois Experiment Station

A summary of reports published by these outstanding authorities show that BAYER DUST increased the yield as follows:

Average seed... 3.5 bu. per A.
Diploia-infected seed... 12.1 bu. per A.
Gibberella-infected seed... 15.1 bu. per A.

Proved by 200,000 Growers

Last season over 200,000 Corn Belt growers used Bayer seed treatment. Let these men tell you in their own words what they think of BAYER DUST:

Permits Earlier Planting

"The corn did not decay in the soil but came up and did good in spite of the cold wet season."

Insures Germination

"Never had corn come up so since I have been farming—I had a splendid stand."

Prevents Replanting

"My neighbor planted on the same day and did not treat his seed and had to plant over."

Fewer Barren Stalks

"Had fewer barren stalks than other years—dry rot and mouldy ears very nearly eliminated."

Improves Quality

"The treated corn was much better quality—solid, dry ears."

Increases Yield

"Increased my yield from 5 to 15 bushels per acre." "The corn that was not treated was not as good by ten bushels to the acre."

Easy to Use—Costs Little

You can use Bayer Dust at a cost of less than five cents an acre. No special equipment is required. Simply use as a dust treatment. Two bushels of seed can be treated in less than three minutes.

NEWS OF THE CHURCHES

GRACE EVANGELICAL CHURCH
North Side
On E. Fellows St. One Block East Of Galena Avenue
Rev. Frank Brandellner Pastor
Services this week:

Wednesday 7:30—Prayer services for every member of the family. Mr. H. J. Hughes the newly elected class-leader will have charge.
Services on Easter Sunday brought real Christian joy to many. A record attendance of 321 was registered in the morning. A special program by the children was well received.

Arrangements are being made by the Young Peoples Missionary Circle for the rendering of a special program on Conference Sunday at 7:30.

Miss Emeline Welsh, one of our missionaries from China and who has worked in our Kentucky mission has been secured as speaker. Following the program the Broadcast of the Conference session to be held at Aurora will be received at the church through the courtesy of T. J. Miller & Sons, who will furnish a radio for the occasion.

The pastor will fill the local pulpit next Sunday and over Sunday April 22 will attend the Annual Conference session at Aurora, Ill.

"For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the Scriptures; and that He was buried, and that He rose again the third day according to the Scriptures." Salvation comes only through the Risen Christ.

A Church with a message and a welcome for all.

METHODIST SUNDAY SCHOOL
Plans are under way for the annual Father and Son Banquet which will be held on Friday evening April 20.

The speaker will be Rev. Rompel of Morris, who has been very successful in work with boys and Boy Scout troops and will also be remembered from the part he took in the World War work.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH NOTES
Sunday's attendance and all-around spirit of devotion and enthusiasm set a high mark for the congregation. The weather was forgotten in the happy realization of plans that had long been energetically promoted. Four times the church was crowded to the doors, and a very respectable group participated in the early morning union Christian Endeavor service. In the Bible School, an offering of $142.68 was received for Ministerial Relief, and three hundred eleven sat in the Classes, without Rally or Contest features being stressed at all. At the two church services twenty-five new members were added, sixteen of these being from the pastor's Easter instruction groups.

"On to Pentecost" will be the church's new motto—seven weeks of progress no less definite and aggressive, it is hoped. To the hundreds of friends and visitors whose presence gladdened the Easter celebration, the church expresses a high appreciation, and invites them to go further in their association and interest for the work of Christ.

Tuesday evening, the Young People's Mission Circle will meet at the church, for the postponed April meeting, which will begin at six-thirty with a chop suey supper. The same evening, seven-thirty, A. L. Palmer's home, 614 Brinton Ave., will be the meeting place of the Loyal Men's Bible Class, Jas. G. Leach, teacher. Wednesday evening, the Midweek Prayers, followed by an adjourned session of the Church official Board. Each evening this week, except Wednesday, the pastor will speak at the Grand Detour church, in his usual post-Easter services there.

"Youth has a wonderful opportunity today, for raising higher the standards of citizenship," Mayor Palmer told the Christian Endeavors at yesterday morning's union sun-rise prayer-service, held in the Christian Church. "Our officers of all kinds, law-makers and law-enforcers, will be no better and cleaner than the citizenship that elects or appoints them," he continued. "In a country like ours, this is vital, and you soon-to-be voters must assume your responsibility, if you expect your country to be led in the right direction, and honesty and sobriety to flourish."

LETTER GOLF

A WARM WEATHER PUZZLE
Just in case any letter golf fans suffer from spring fever, today's puzzle is not too hard. There's a bit of spring in going from WILD to ROSE and the par is four. You may be able to beat the solution on page 11.

W	I	L	D

THE RULES
1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.
2—You can change only one letter at a time.
3—You must have a complete word of common usage, for each pump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.
4—The order of letters cannot be changed.
One solution is printed on page 11.

The Mayor illustrated his points quite aptly by reference to the Prohibition Amendment and the enforcement acts, which were admirable and timely, in his opinion, but had not been followed up by the vigilant support of the people at large; so that violations had naturally come, viciously put forward by those who hated the law and wished to bring it into contempt.

The service was planned and excellently carried out, in presentation of the new C. E. slogan, "Crusade with Christ." The closing period was a splendid appeal by the District President, Martha Stanley for "Crusaders" who would subscribe to the three-fold aim of the "Crusade," viz Evangelism, Christian Citizenship and World Peace. Ruth Morris and Wayne Bowser were in charge of the service, and other speakers besides the mayor were the Rev. M. W. Hale of Wheaton, C. M. Yohn of the Dixon Y. M. C. A., and B. H. Cleaver. Solos were sung by Duane Wood and Margaret Cleaver.

GRAND DETOUR

CHRISTIAN CHURCH
The Church and Bible School enjoyed delightful services Sunday forenoon, with fifty-nine in the Bible school, and an excellent Easter program by the young people, closed by a special Easter sermon by A. B. Barnett of Dixon. The children's work showed the results of Mrs. Reagan's "song-practices," which she has been conducting the past six weeks, on Thursday evening.

On Wednesday evening of this week, the Rev. Clarence Heckman and wife of Mt. Morris, furnished missionaries of the Church of the Brethren, who have been working in Africa, have been secured for a service, in which they will describe their work.

Beginning Monday evening, B. H. Cleaver of the Dixon Christian church will conduct post-Easter meetings, preaching each night except Wednesday. On Tuesday night the ladies' quartette of Dixon church will sing special numbers.

OHIO NEWS

Ohio—William Denbo went to Chicago Monday evening with stock. The Good Housekeeper's Club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harriet Smith. Mrs. Marguerite Underline and Miss Jessie Burnham assisted with the demonstrations. Cecil Stevenson who is in the U. S. army station at Belleville visited last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Stevenson. At the township election held last Tuesday afternoon the following were elected: Town Clerk—Henry Hardersen. Assessor—A. F. Schmaus. Comm. of Highways—A. W. Shifflet. School Trustee—Charles A. Smith. Mrs. H. A. Jackson and Miss Doris Barkman spent Tuesday evening in Sheffield.

Avery Golden and family of Rockford spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Ruff.

F. A. Anderson went to Chicago Wednesday evening with stock. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hey and little daughter of Decatur were Easter guests at the home of Mrs. Hey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Dewey.

Mrs. F. B. Schmaus and Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Morton and son Carlyle went to Mendota Thursday to attend the funeral of the former's brother, Charles Floreschuetz.

Mrs. Carrie Urban, a former resident of this place, gave an interesting talk on "Magazines" at a meeting of the Ohio Women's Club held at the home of Mrs. Harriet Neis on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Inks who has spent the winter with her son, Dr. F. E. Inks, and family in Princeton, has returned to her home in this city.

R. M. Dewey has accepted a position with the DeLaval Separator Co., and left here Monday morning for Chicago to begin his duties.

Miss Etta Lloyd spent Monday in Dixon.

Mrs. Carrie Urban and Mrs. Edna Clark were dinner guests Saturday evening at the T. J. Shaw home.

The Busy Bee Class of the M. P. church enjoyed a party last Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Grace McDonald. Games of various kinds were played and an appetizing lunch was served.

Louis Spohn passed away very suddenly Sunday evening at his home northeast of town. Funeral arrangements had not been made at this time. Mr. Spohn is survived by his widow, three sons and a daughter, who have the sympathy of many friends in their sorrow.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

The summer she is 16, SALLY FORD leaves the state orphanage, the only home she has known from the time she was four, to be "turned out" to CLEM KATSON.

At the Carson farm she meets DAVID NASH, athletic and student who is working on the farm during the summer. When Carson makes insulting remarks about David's friendship with Sally, David hits him a terrific blow.

Nita, a Tulsa dancer, becomes infatuated with David and shows her enmity for Sally. Sally tells NITA BYBEE, wife of the show owner, that her mother once lived in Stanton, the town where the carnival is now showing.

The manager's wife agrees to investigate and learn what she can. She returns from her trip to tell Sally that the woman who left her at the orphanage was not her mother, but a maid hired to take the baby from the real mother's arms.

New York and disappear. As Sally leaves the Pullman after hearing this news from Mrs. Bybee, she sees Nita and believes she has been eavesdropping.

The last day in Stanton Sally is paralyzed with fear the owner that they are moving next day to the capital city, where she spent so many years in the orphanage home. Knowing that the police are after them for the Carson affair, she hurries to tell David they must run away.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXII "POOR KID!" David consoled her after his first almost hysterical outburst. "I can't talk to you now, and you shouldn't be here. You've got to go back for your last performance. The show has to go on. They've been decent to us, and we can't throw them over without warning."

"But David, we've got to run away again!" Sally whimpered, clinging to both his arms, bare to the shoulders in anticipation of his work in helping to load the carnival for its 30-mile drag to the capital. "We can't go back to Capital City. We'll be caught! Listen, David—"

"Go back to your show tent," David commanded her sternly. "I'll be working pretty late help to load up, but I'll whistle a bar from 'Always' under your Pullman window. We all sleep on the train tonight, and pull out for Capital City some time before morning. We pick up the engine at three o'clock, I believe. Plenty of time then to decide what to do."

He shook her a little to make her stop shivering and whimpering with fear. "Buck up, honey! I'm not going to let the police get you; neither is Pop Bybee. Dear little Sally! and he stooped from his great height to brush the tip of her short, brown-powdered nose with his lips.

During the last performance in the Palace of Wonders a village constable, his star shining importantly from the lapel of his Palm Beach suit, sauntered leisurely through the tent, eyeing the freaks with skeptical amusement and asking all the Smart-Aleck questions which the more timid members of the carnival crowd longed to ask and did not dare.

"Bet you wouldn't let me put any of that glass you're eatin' in my coffee," he guffawed to the ostrich man whom Gus, the Barker, was ballyhooing at the moment. "I'm on it to all you guys. Rock candy, ain't it?"

"Sure, officer," Gus interrupted his spiel to answer deferentially. "Won't you have a little snack with the human ostrich? I particularly recommend these nails Boffo cats only the choicest six penny nails; will accept no substitutes. And if a nail's rusty, out with it! Sort of an epicure, Boffo is! Have a handful of glass and nails with Boffo, officer! Big hearted, that's Boffo!"

The constable refused hastily and the crowd roared with delight. The discomfited officer of the law ambled over to make his disparaging inspection of Jan, the giant from Holland.

"Pull up your pants legs and let me see your stiffs," the constable ordered authoritatively. "I ain't the sucker you guys think I am! I'm on to your tricks—been going to carnivals man and boy for 50 years."

With his eyes as remote and sad and patient as if he had not heard or understood a word of the constable's insult, Jan obeyed, rolling his trousers to the knees. When the Doubting Thomas representative of the law had plucked the pale, putty-colored flesh of Jan's thighs, he turned away and found them to be flesh and blood indeed. He passed on, red of face, furious at the snorts of laughter which filled the tent.

"What if he takes a notion to wash my face?" Sally shivered, bending low, in an attitude of mystic concentration, over the crystal which she was pretending to read for a farmer's wife who had no interest in Boffo, the human ostrich, but who did have perfect faith in the powers of "Princess Lalla."

"What if he is just pretending to be interested in the other freaks and is really looking for me? Has Nita dared to tip him off that Sally Ford is here?"

But her little singsong voice drowned on, predicting prosperity and happiness and "a journey by land and sea" for the credulous farmer's wife.

"What's your real name, sister?" the constable demanded loudly, of a fellow, stamping up the steps that led to the little platform.

"Please," Sally pleaded prettily, making her eyes wide and cloudy with mystic visions, "do not eentertup!" The vesion she will go away!"

"You let her alone, Sam Pelton!" the farmer's wife commanded tartly. "Go on, Princess Lalla. I think you're just wonderful—knowing about my mother being dead and even her name and all."

And Sally continued the reading with Constable Pelton breathing audibly upon her neck as she bent her small head gravely over the crystal. When she could think of nothing else to tell the highly placed woman, she was desperate.

"I'll be working pretty late help to load up, but I'll whistle a bar from 'Always' under your Pullman window. We all sleep on the train tonight, and pull out for Capital City some time before morning. We pick up the engine at three o'clock, I believe. Plenty of time then to decide what to do."

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS EVERY MANAGER SATISFIED WITH TEAM'S CHANCES

Not a Baseball Leader Admits Being Downhearted

New York, April 10—(AP)—Not a manager in major league baseball is downhearted. As the season opens they will declare that they feel great and have the utmost confidence in their players. Some of them may be whistling to keep their courage up but they are whistling.

Not even a disastrous series of defeats by both major and minor league teams in the south has caused Miller Huggins to repudiate his world champion Yankees. "We have the team," is Huggins' boast.

Owen Bush, leader of the Pittsburgh Pirates, National League champion, has forgotten the world series, and sees improvement.

Connie Mack does not claim a pennant for his Athletics but he expects them to make their presence felt earlier in the race.

Bill McKee is watching his old team the Pittsburgh Pirates from the bench of the St. Louis Cardinals. "We must beat the Pirates to win, and I feel we have the team to turn the trick."

Bucky Harris is banking on the Washington pitchers.

John J. McGraw points with pride to the splendid condition of the New York Giants.

George Moriarty styles Detroit a combative unit. "We have a fighting club and must be reckoned with," is his challenge.

McCarthy sees a close race with the Cubs very much in it. "Cuyler has helped us. The Pirates will be tough to beat and so will the Cards and Giants," is his diagnosis.

Ray Schalk of the Chicago White Sox, as a catcher should, looks at his pitchers. "Our pitchers look to be much better than they were last year," he says.

Jack Hendricks expects the Cincinnati Reds to spring a surprise.

Roger Peckinpaugh likes the mental attitude of the Cleveland Indians. "We have a hustling satisfied bunch of players," he says.

Brooklyn will show its pitchers more consideration, Manager Wilbert Robinson believes. "We will make more runs this year," Bobby announces.

Dan Howley has made the St. Louis Browns over between seasons and thinks he has done a good job. "We are gambling with some young players but I am sure we have a good bet," is his statement.

The health and strength of the Boston Red Sox pleases Bill Carrigan.

Burt Shotton does not have to answer for the baseball sins of the Phillies of other years and he has impressed upon the players that this is another year.

Canton Five Honored

Canton, Ill., April 10—(AP)—Canton's basketball team, runners-up in the National High School tournament at Chicago, awoke today with echoes of their rousing welcome still ringing in their ears, as they faced a series of banquets and festivities in their honor.

At least 5,000 residents of their home city greeted them and their coach, Mark Peterman, at the station with two bands last night. Fireworks, music and cheering, both spontaneous and organized, told their welcome. Speeches of welcome were followed by a lively snake dance and a huge bonfire, staged by fellow students and fans.

All last week the homefolks seethed with excitement and pride as the state champions won game after game in the national tourney to enter the final Saturday night against Ashland, Ky., the only team from the best of the nation to take their measure.

Several banquets and celebrations were scheduled in appreciation of the team's accomplishments for this week.

AMERICAN ASSN. OPENS PLAY IN EARNEST TODAY

Four Teams Pennant Possibilities in Experts' Eyes

Chicago, April 10—(AP)—Shorn of its outstanding young stars of a year ago but ranks replete with major league veterans, the American Association opened its 1928 season today.

The scheduled opening games: Milwaukee at Columbus; Kansas City at Toledo; St. Paul at Louisville and Minneapolis at Indianapolis.

Four teams stood out in the opinions of the "experts" as the leading contenders for the championship. They were Milwaukee, St. Paul, Indianapolis and Toledo, the 1927 pennant winner. But the presence of so many veterans convinced many that it was a tossup.

Milwaukee has almost a new team this year, having lost pitchers Ossie Orwoll and "Bubber" Jonnard, Dennis Gearin, Paul Johnson, Roy Elish, Lloyd Flippin and Harry Riconda. In their places the club has recruited some hustling youngsters and one or two major league veterans.

Indianapolis has made only a few changes, losing infielder Johnny Butler to the Chicago Cubs and picking up pitcher Emil Yde and outfielder Roy Spencer of the Pirates. The new club owner is James A. Perry.

St. Paul has lost its infield—Norman McMillan, Leo Durocher and Gene Robertson—to the majors, but expects to march to pennantville with its heavy pitching staff and new rookies.

Toledo has made several additions in an attempt to plug the infield hole left by Molly Maguire, who is with the Cubs.

Minneapolis Kansas City, Columbus and Louisville, while not recognized as pennant contenders, believe they have stronger teams than a year ago.

PRESIDENTIAL PORTRAITS

The Story of Jim Reed

EDITORS NOTE: This is the second of a series of articles on outstanding presidential candidates written for The Telegraph and NEA Service by Robert Talley. This article continues the story of Senator James A. Reed, which will be concluded tomorrow.

BY ROBERT TALLEY
NEA Service Writer

Washington, April 10—For nearly a decade before his historic clash with Woodrow Wilson over the League of Nations in 1919, Jim Reed of Missouri had been a member of the U. S. Senate, but the country had heard comparatively little of him until then.

It was then that Reed's inherent ability as a fighter manifested itself, to be met by that of Wilson, who was no less uncompromising himself. Reed won insofar as the league proposal was defeated in the Senate, but his battle made him tremendously unpopular with a large part of his party, climaxed by the refusal to allow him a seat at the Democratic national convention at San Francisco in 1920. It has been said that the bitter opposition of Senator Lodge—the cultured, scholarly and sensitive leader of the anti-league Republicans—was bred of wounded vanity, following Wilson's failure to take him as a delegate to the Versailles peace conference. But no such considerations motivated Reed; a stern Andrew Jackson type of Democrat, he was opposed to "setting up any government that would be greater than our own."

After his first election to the Senate in 1910, Reed had found for lower tariffs, championed the direct election of senators and helped unseat Senator Lorimer (Rep. Ill.) on charges of fraudulent election in 1912. He supported Wilson in the Mexican crisis of 1914, on the Adamson eight-hour law and stood with him on the bulk of pre-war measures.

Reed voted for war and, as he afterward said, voted for "every dollar, every man, every ship and every gun the president asked to carry on the war."

Their first real clash came on the federal reserve act, which had been rushed through the House at Wilson's insistence. Reed, however, demanded hearings in the Senate and succeeded in making 563 amendments to the bill before it was finally passed. Next, Reed refused to vote for the Panama canal toll bill, despite Wilson's plea. They broke again when Reed blocked Wilson's nomination of Thomas D. Jones to the Federal Reserve Board, charging that Jones was allied with the "harvester trust."

When future historians write the story of that widening breach and what followed, they will probably say that both Reed and Wilson were equally sincere. They doubtless will explain that each had the ability to hate bitterly, and that in the game of hating Wilson was the equal of Reed.

In 1919, Wilson came back from Europe, riding on the crest of a world-wide wave of popularity that few men in history have enjoyed and bringing with him his cherished League of Nations covenant for adoption by the Senate.

For a time it seemed inevitable that it would be accepted. Wilson's tremendous prestige seemed certain to carry it over.

But there were a few U. S. senators who had their doubts about the matter of "setting up a government superior to our own." One of these was Jim Reed, a Democrat of the Andrew Jackson school. His Americanism was of the flaming, bristling, independent kind that flourished at the frontier. His opposition to the League of Nations was something instinctive; he could not possibly have been for it, had Wilson wooed him with all the honeyed words in the dictionary.

The battle raged in the Senate. "I decline," Reed shouted in a fiery speech late in 1919, "to help set up any government that is greater than that established by my fathers, greater than that baptized in the blood of patriots from the lanes of Lexington to the forests of the Argonne, greater than that sanctified by the tears of all the mothers whose heroic sons have gone down to death to sustain its glory and its independence."

I decline to help set up any government greater than the government of the United States of America!"

Reed—admittedly one of the greatest orators who ever sat in the capitol—was at his best that day, the fires of passion and duty burning hot within him.

It was a speech that Washington still remembers. It shattered the staid gravity of the Senate, cheers resounded through the galleries, soldiers waved their caps and even senators leaped to their feet and applauded.

When Jim Reed fights he fights all the way, so he carried his battle to the people with a number of speaking engagements throughout the country. He was at odds with Wilson, unpopular and even hated by millions of his party, assailed as a "traitor" on many sides—but when Reed fights he throws no cream-puffs.

At Ardmore, Okla., they threw rotten eggs at him, cut off the electric lights and a near-riot ensued. In Birmingham, Ala., he was told that he might be mobbed if he made his address. In North Carolina, the legislature canceled an invitation for him to address them and branded him as "a traitor who ought to be shot." The Missouri legislature likewise refused to let him speak before it, and throughout that state "Rid Us of Reed" clubs were formed.

There were threats of physical violence more than once, but Reed was never molested. Maybe his iron courage explains why.

At a little town in the backhills of the Ozarks, Reed was warned that he might be shot if he made his speech, but Reed went. He spoke in the crude little town hall, and after he had finished he looked at his audience in silence for a full minute and then said:

"I am going to walk down the middle aisle of this hall, and if anyone wants to shoot me, let him fire away. Then I'm going to my room in the hotel across the street. The door will be open and visitors will be welcome."

Coolly he walked down the aisle between the dark-faced mountaineers, coolly he crossed the street and went to his room, where, true to his promise, he left the door wide open. He was not molested.

Threats of physical violence were not the only dangers that Reed faced in those days, however. Woodrow Wilson, who could exorcise an enemy as sharply and skillfully as any man in history, turned all of the fire of his eloquence on the Missourian. Wilson's cry of "Marplot!" is still remembered.

The League of Nations plan was beaten, as everybody now knows, and it seemed also that the political career of Jim Reed had been wrecked forever in the same crash. The worst insult of all came when the Democrats barred Reed, a senator, from their San Francisco convention in 1920.

Before Reed—in 1922—lay his race for re-election for another six-year term. A man less courageous, less determined and less able might have given it up as hopeless and retired. Woodrow Wilson was no longer president, but the shadow of Wilson's hatred for him still hung over Reed like a shadow from a tombstone.

But Jim Reed "came back." Despite Missouri's "Rid Us of Reed" clubs, despite Wilson's appeal to the voters, he ran for re-election in 1922 and was returned by 43,000 majority. How he did it is another story.
